SENATE AND HOUSE AGREE UPON TAX BILL!

NEW FRENCH CABINET LOOMS

Lyons' Conference May Lead To Political Changes, Herriot Indicates

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, May 21.—Edouard Herriot, famous Socialist and leader of the Left bloc which defeated Premier Raymond Poincare in the recent election, arrived from Lyons today to plan the formation of a new cabinet.

"France plainly showed her political wishes in the general election," said Herriot. "Respecting the voters' verdict, I expect to form a ministry from members of the Left bloc. My policy will be open diplomacy."

See Millerand
Herriot conferred for an hour and a half with President Millerand upon the domestic financial situation.

Others in the conference were Premier Poincare and Paul Painleve, who will probably hold the post of foreign minister in the new government.

Herriot said the conference had agreed upon reparations and other international issues.

Tentative Program
It is expected that the chief features of France's future program will be:

1. Reduction of taxes.
2. Greater and more open relations with England and Italy upon the question of reparations.
3. Acquiescence in the Dawes reparations plan.
4. Announcement of more favorable conditions for the withdrawal of French troops from the Ruhr.

There has been no indication of the policy the forthcoming cabinet will adopt toward the payment of wartime debts.

Paul Painleve is opposed to hasty withdrawal of troops from the Ruhr, holding that Germany might mistake this action for weakness and insist upon reparations concessions which the allies could not make.

Soviets' Deficit for Year $200,000,000

COPENHAGEN, May 21.—Alexey Rykov, successor to Lenin in the Russian soviet government, declared in a speech at Moscow that this fiscal year's deficit will be $200,000,000, according to a Moscow dispatch received today.

Rykov said the soviet could not reduce military expenditures because Russia must be stronger than Roumania and Poland.

Plot Rebel Invasion Of Afghanistan, Claim

MOSCOW, May 21.—Reports were current here today that Great Britain is strengthening her forces in the region of Afghanistan and is preparing to support an anti-revolutionary invasion to restore the former empire.

Commute Sentences Of Death on Rebels

KIEV, Ukraine, May 21.—The Ukrainian central executive committee today commuted death sentences imposed upon four counter-revolutionary leaders by the Kiev tribunal.

France Promises New Airplane to Distance Aviator

PARIS, May 21.—The French ministry of aviation today consented to send a new airplane to Shanghai if Lieutenant Pelletier D'Oisy, French long-distance flyer, wishes to continue his air journey to Tokyo.

D'Oisy's machine was damaged beyond repair while he was making a landing at Shanghai Tuesday afternoon, making it impossible for him to continue his flight.

Hartranft Chosen On Stanford Team For Boston Meet

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 21.—Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft will be a member of the Stanford team sent east for the annual I. C. A. A. A. A. at Boston May 30 and 31. The faculty committee, W. H. Barrow, director of athletics, announced, had ruled Hartranft and Van Judah eligible, but found Sorie and Elliott ineligible. Fifteen men will make up the Cardinal squad.

HAWAIIANS FLEE VOLCANO'S WRATH

Terrific Explosion Predicted At Moment's Warning By Scientist

HONOLULU, May 21.—All persons within the area of Mount Kilauaea volcano were prepared to leave on a minute's notice today, following prediction by R. H. Finch, observer, that a tremendous explosion is due momentarily.

Finch based his prediction upon the increased earthquake activity in the past 24 hours. The military camp has been moved and only a few persons, including Finch, are remaining close to the crater for observation purposes. No trace has been found of Edward Hinnman and Howard Simmons, missing soldiers, who disappeared two days ago after a violent eruption.

Observatory Chief Fears Island Holocaust

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The eruption of Mount Kilauaea in Hawaii may equal the eruption of 1790 when hundreds of natives were killed, according to Dr. T. T. Jagger, head of the Hawaiian observatory which is located close to the mountain's top. He sailed from here today on the liner Manoa, recalled from a vacation in the United States by the unusual activity of the volcano which he has studied for years.

"The eruption of Kilauaea portends more phenomena of this sort," he declared. He said the activity might be grouped with the Japanese earthquakes and the recent earth disturbances in the Philippines.

WOMAN WAITS FOR 'SPIRIT MESSAGE'

Realty Broker, Before Ending Life, Left Note About Communication

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Strangely confident that the man who had shown a spiritual affection for her would try to keep the promise he made her in life, Miss Grace Wilson, parish minister of the fashionable Wilshire boulevard Congregational church, today patiently awaited a message from the soul of W. G. Ross, 53, realty broker, who committed suicide yesterday by taking poison.

Before taking his life, according to notes Ross left, his act was an "experiment" with death, and he wrote Miss Wilson that he would communicate with her as soon as he reached some other world.

Stokes Conspiracy Trial Is Postponed

CHICAGO, May 21.—Trial of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel owner of New York, who is charged with having conspired to injure his wife's reputation during the recent longship trial, was postponed today when affidavits asserting Stokes was too ill to appear were introduced. The case was set for September 6.

Blast In Gun Turret Wounds Thirteen Men

TOULON, France, May 21.—During target practice today a shell exploded in the gun turret of the French school ship Patrie, seriously wounding thirteen persons.

COOLIDGE TO DELAY JAP EMBARGO

Exclusion In Conflict With Existing Pacts, to Be President's Stand

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Undaunted by the failures that have thus far met his efforts to postpone the effective date for Japanese exclusion, President Coolidge will make still another attempt to "get around" the exclusion provision, it was indicated at the White House today.

It is understood the president has under contemplation returning the new immigration bill to Congress with a statement that the exclusion provision conflicts with existing treaties, and that it should be remedied in this respect before he attaches his signature.

The president will not veto the bill outright, according to those with whom he has conferred. He rather plans to make one more appeal to Congress to soften the drastic exclusion provision.

Action by the president is expected this week, possibly tomorrow.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY OVER REMARRIAGE

Slays Former Wife, Mortally Wounds Her Husband, Takes Own Life

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Meeting his former wife and her husband of a few days in South Grand avenue this morning, the Hico shot and killed the woman, mortally wounded the man, William Milligan, and then turned the gun on himself, inflicting a probably fatal wound.

Mr. and Mrs. Milligan, married only a few days ago and still on their honeymoon, had left their residence and walked a block when Hico, who was said to have become jealous insane when he learned his former wife had married, appeared and whipped out a revolver and began shooting.

WIDOW OF CHAIN STORE HEAD DEAD

Death Claims Mrs. Jessie Woolworth In Her Home At New York

NEW YORK, May 21.—Mrs. Jessie Woolworth, widow of the founder of the chain of 5 and 10 cent stores, died today at her home at Glen Cove, Long Island. She was 69 years old. Her husband, F. W. Woolworth, died five years ago.

Mrs. Woolworth is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Donohue and Mrs. Jessica McCann, both directors of F. W. Woolworth company, and by a granddaughter, Miss Barbara Hutton. Having been declared incompetent prior to her husband's death, Mrs. Woolworth's estate had been administered since 1919 by a committee consisting of the two daughters and President Parsons of F. W. Woolworth company.

New Mexico's 'Volcano' In Small Forest Fire

RATON, N. M., May 21.—The flames and smoke reported "belching from the crater of a volcano" in northern New Mexico, came from a small forest fire, it was learned here today.

Crew of Dutch Ship Quit Sinking Vessel

LONDON, May 21.—The Dutch steamer Jans Ryewick was sinking today in the North sea off the Farne islands. The crew took to the lifeboats.

The Glendale Evening News Has Complete Confidence In Judgment Of These Men

The advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Control, composed of representative citizens, have approved the budget and plans for Glendale's advertising campaign. Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, too, have approved of the campaign as outlined. The budget follows:

100,000 Glendale folders	$ 1,500
Arrowhead Magazine and Guidebook	1,750
Glendale newspapers	750
Los Angeles Times	5,000
Los Angeles Examiner	5,000
Cuts and art work	3,000
The Saturday Evening Post, half page	3,500
Postage for literature	500
California Real Estate Magazine	100
Publicity expert	2,000
C. R. Stuart's compensation	1,238
Contingent fund	5,450

Total $29,788

The expenditure of the $3500 for a half page in the Saturday Evening Post, while allowed by the board, is held in abeyance subject to further conferences between the board and the committee.

As already announced in The Glendale Evening News, the selection of the Los Angeles Times and Los Angeles Examiner as the principal media in which the advertisements are to be carried was made after exhaustive research and as offering the best means, the committee members declare, of tying in with the advertising campaigns of the big organizations that are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to bring people to Southern California, agencies such as the All Year Round Club of Southern California, Californians Inc., the railroads and the steamship lines.

The principal problem, as one member pointed out, is the re-distribution of the newcomers who are flocking into Southern California on every train and over every road, and the appeal through the newspapers is to be directed toward securing for Glendale a share of these thousands of new residents.

All of which appears to be sound reasoning and endorsed by the large number of successful and representative men of the city. Yet, since it was first stated that money was to be spent in Los Angeles newspapers AND A CERTAIN EVENING NEWSPAPER IN LOS ANGELES WAS NOT MENTIONED IN THE BUDGET, the Glendale representative of that Los Angeles newspaper has been—and is—trying to upset the work of the representative committee. If the committee had seen fit to INCLUDE that certain Los Angeles newspaper in its budget perhaps the paper's local representative would have declared the budget perfect!

The Glendale Evening News has confidence in the good judgment of the members of the committee and the board of control. They have made up the budget, they have revised it, they have approved it, they have published it. Now it remains to be seen whether the committee and the board of control have confidence in themselves and are willing to stay by their own acts—or whether they are to be stampeded. If the budget is revised again, it will be interesting to watch whether an appropriation is made for the Los Angeles newspaper whose local representative is so insistent upon a "national" advertising campaign.

The following representative business men constitute the Board of Control that will have full charge of the expenditure of Glendale's advertising fund:

- S. P. ROBINSON, Mayor of Glendale.
- A. L. BAIRD, Kiwanis club.
- GEORGE B. KARR, Rotary club.
- R. E. JOHNSON, Exchange club.
- PETER HANSON, Glendale Realty board.
- LYMAN P. CLARK, Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association.
- C. J. HATZ, Glendale Merchants' association.
- D. H. SMITH, Chamber of Commerce.
- REV. J. C. LIVINGSTON, Ministerial Union.
- C. W. INGLEDEU, Glendale Advancement association.
- L. H. WILSON, San Fernando Improvement association.
- ALEX MITCHELL, Foothill Improvement association.
- CHARLES B. GUTHRIE, Central Avenue Improvement association.
- MATTISON B. JONES, Brand Boulevard Improvement association.
- HERMAN NELSON, Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank.
- A. R. EASTMAN, Glendale State bank.
- R. F. KITTERMAN, Security Trust and Savings bank.
- W. S. PERRIN, Glendale Savings bank.
- C. C. COOPER, Federal Commercial and Savings bank.
- W. W. LEE, First National bank in Glendale.
- DANIEL CAMPBELL, Community Savings and Commercial bank.

Commission to Probe Glendale's Request

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Request of the city of Glendale for an appropriation for the improvement of San Fernando road within the city limits of Glendale was referred yesterday to the road commission for a report which will probably be placed before the board at its meeting next Monday. Request of the Verdugo City association of commerce for the establishment of a standard of parkways in the La Canada valley was referred to the regional planning commission and the road department.

Atlantic Ship Lanes Free of Ice, Report

HALIFAX, May 21.—The United States cutter Modoc, which has been on ice duty, reported today that the north Atlantic steamer lane is free of bergs. Not a berg was sighted during the fifteen days the Modoc cruised off the Grand banks.

SIGN LEASE FOR SITE OF SHOW

Murphy's Comedians to Put Tent at Central and Stocker May 29

A six months' lease with option to buy was executed this morning between J. A. Menard of Murphy's Comedians and A. Houston Jones for the northeast corner of Central avenue and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, where the players will move their big tent following the last performance at the present location on Wednesday night, May 28.

Coincident with this announcement Mr. Menard stated that he has turned over to the Frank Meline company, through whose Glendale office the lease was made, a 41-acre tract in Sacramento for immediate subdivision, and that with the proceeds Murphy's Comedians will build in Glendale a $250,000 Class A theatre of 2000 seats.

Look Over Tract
Mr. Menard will leave for Sacramento next week with officials of the Frank Meline company, including Manager A. H. Voelker of the Glendale office, he states, to look over the tract and complete arrangements for its subdivision.

"We like Glendale and will invest our money for a permanent home here," declared Mr. Menard. "It is the friendliest city we have ever played and in many ways ideal for the founding of such a theatre as we contemplate."

Seeking Site Here
The Frank Meline company is at present lining up a suitable location for the prospective theatre, according to Mr. Voelker. Several sites are under consideration, he states. Central location will be the paramount consideration.

A new show, "Nothing But the Truth," will start on Sunday, Mr. Menard states, and this show will continue at the new location at the corner of Central avenue and Stocker street.

SENATORS PROBE DEEPER IN KLAN

Former Imperial Wizard to Be Called In Mayfield Election Quiz

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Over protest of counsel for Senator Earle B. Mayfield, the Senate committee investigating the election of the Texan, decided today to go still deeper in its inquiry into the Klan which George E. Paddy, defeated Republican, maintains elected Mayfield by conspiracy.

It was decided to call E. Y. Clarke, formerly imperial wizard of the Klan, who was banished after a controversy with his successor, Dr. W. H. Evans.

Herriot Expected at London Debt Parley

LONDON, May 21.—Foreign officials said they expected Edouard Herriot to succeed Raymond Poincare as premier of France and to come to England for a conference on reparations early in June. They expect a general allied conference to be held before the end of June.

Immigration Meet Is Deadlocked at Rome

ROME, May 21.—The international immigration conference summoned by Premier Mussolini was reported deadlocked today over the delegates' inability to agree to a definition of the emigrant.

Mussolini Picks New Speaker of Chamber

ROME, May 21.—Premier Mussolini today appointed Deputy Rocca speaker of the Chamber of Deputies.

Poles Are Killed As Red Terrorists Raid Over Border

WARSAW, May 21.—Several Polish police, frontier guards and a priest were killed in a battle between raiders from soviet Russia and Poles at Krzywicz, near the border, said a dispatch from that place today. It is believed the raiders are members of a White Russian terrorist band which is trying to precipitate a Russo-Polish crisis.

ZONE ORDINANCES CLAIMED INVALID

Restrictions Can Be Made Only by Owner, Attorney Tells Realtors

Building restrictions and zoning ordinances in the state of California were the topic of an address delivered by Attorney A. J. Bledsoe of Los Angeles before the Glendale Realty board at the weekly luncheon in the Presbyterian church today, in which he declared that the question of the validity of building restrictions are occupying the attention of lawyers all over the state today, and that these lawyers are coming to believe that restrictions on buildings are invalid except as between the original grantor and the original grantee.

Mr. Bledsoe, who is the author of "Business Law for Business Men," quoted from the decision of the state supreme court holding that building restrictions imposed in a certain contract could not be enforced.

Zoning ordinances, he asserted, have been twice set aside by the district court of appeals, on the grounds that no zoning ordinance

NAME DATES FOR AUTO SHOW HERE

Dealers Make Plans for Big Event Week of June 23 On South Brand

That the auto show to be staged by the Glendale Automobile Dealers' association beginning the week of June 23, will be a great success, was assured today, when various committees of the association met at a luncheon held at the Egyptian Village.

Reports of the chairman all indicated that rapid progress was being made for the completion of the show. Plenty of enthusiasm and pep is back of every committee and everything possible to guarantee the success of the show is being done.

Decorations, music, free parking space for the public, and liability and property damage insurance were a few of the important things arranged for today. The budget covering expenses was completed and appropriations covering the various items of expenses were made. Chairman Lyman Clark adjourned the meeting and announced that another conference would be called in the near future.

DELEGATES CHEER KLAN CANDIDATE

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21.—Digressing from his prepared speech before the Republican state convention here today, Senator James E. Watson brought the delegates to their feet with cheers when he declared unreservedly for Major Ed Jackson, nominated in the primary for governor with the backing of the Ku Klux Klan, and further said he had no objection to any man belonging to the Klan.

FEAR TIDAL WAVE, EARTHQUAKES

HONOLULU, May 21.—As the eruption of Kilauaea volcano continued to subside today, experts observing the phenomena predicted violent earthquakes would be the next stage of the disturbance. There has been a general exodus from the vicinity of Waikae beach in fear that the volcano will cause a great tidal wave.

SETS NEW ALTITUDE CARGO RECORD

DAYTON, Ohio, May 21.—Lieutenant Harold R. Harris, in a T. P. airplane, reached 30,000 feet with a dead weight cargo of 1,100 pounds this afternoon. The indicated height was calibrated to 28,000 feet. The former record was 21,276 feet, made by Otto Dallof, an Argentine pilot on March 3, over the city of Buenos Aires. Harris encountered 39 degrees below zero at his ceiling.

Reciprocity Tea

General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was represented by five members yesterday at the reciprocity tea given at the Bit-more hotel in Los Angeles, as a welcome home for Mrs. Lyman J.
Stookey, past state regent, who has just returned from attending the national congress in Washington, D. C.Glendale women attending were Miss Ida D. Myers, regent of General Richard Gridley chapter;
Mrs. C. W. Houston, past regent;
Mrs. S. Leppelman, Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Jesse H. Flower.
Mrs. Stookey's report of the week's congress in Washington was most comprehensive, according to these women. Before she spoke a reception was held in the ballroom.Mrs. Jesse Shreve of San Diego, recently elected state vice regent, presided with dignity and grace over the program and meeting.

P-T. A. Election

Election of officers and a May day program were combined at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Cerros Avenue Parent-Teacher association at the school house.Mrs. F. T. Small, president, presided, and the following officers were elected for the coming year:
Mrs. A. L. Kent, president; Mrs.
H. P. Croft, vice-president; Mrs.
George Emerson, secretary; Mrs.
Osborne Garber, treasurer; Miss Edna B. Hancock, historian.During the meeting it was decided that the annual picnic be held all day Saturday, June 7, at Brookside park, when parents, teachers and children will enjoy an outing together.Announcement was also made of the fathers' night program for Friday, May 23, when a brotherhood picnic will be held at the school house.Cunning little 6-year-old Peggy Norris was the fairy queen who presided over the May day program given after the meeting yesterday. Her little attendants were Mary Hine, crown bearer; Master
Norris, flower boy; and Jack Garber and Billy Ceno, train bearers.The program included: "A Day in Spring," by the kindergarten class; crowning of May Queen and Maypole dance by first and second grade children; song, "May Day," by third grade; instrumental solo, "June Rose," by Mildred Forsyth; "The Monks," fourth grade; Maypole dance by fifth and sixth grades.

Class Entertains

The turkey dinner given last night in the social hall of the church by the members of the R.
T. W. class of the husbands and church with their guests proved a most delightful affair.The banquet tables were attractively decorated in a yellow and white color scheme with artistic arrangements of spring flowers carrying out the same tints.Mrs. Ray Bentley, president of the class, acted as toastmistress and gave the welcoming address.
During the evening an orchestra composed of a group of young people from the high school department furnished music for the evening.After the banquet a program was presented including two violin solos by R. E. Olin and readings by Mrs. Matteson of Long Beach.The rest of the evening was devoted to an informal social time when games and a general good time was enjoyed. Mrs. Abbey was chairman of the dinner committee and Mrs. Paul Elliot had charge of the program and games.There were over seventy guests present.

Weds in Utah

Miss Martha L. Dodson, popular Glendale girl is planning on leaving Sunday June 1 for Ogden, Utah, where she will become the bride of Wallace Moore of that city on June 7. The wedding ceremony will take place at the home of Miss Dodson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Shreck.Miss Dodson has been a resident of Glendale for several years and made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Black of 558 Vine street. Mrs. Black and Miss Dodson are sisters. Miss Dodson has been employed for the past three years by the J. A. Newton Electric company in the bookkeeping department. She has made a host of friends here with her pleasing personality and will be greatly missed by the younger set.

First Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pierson entertained with a party Sunday afternoon in the celebration of the first birthday of their son Harry Theodore Pierson, Jr.The afternoon was devoted to playing games and a general good time. Later refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Guests at Cabin

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cotton of 1202 East Colorado street were among the guests that were entertained Sunday afternoon at the house-warming given by the physical education club of the University of California, Southern Branch, at their new cabin that has just been completed in Tuna canyon, just out of Topogano canyon.The sophomore class were hos-tes for the day. Miss Dorothy Cotton of Glendale was chairman of arrangement for the affair and officiated at the formal ceremonies of the "fire lighting."Talks were made by the head of the department and class president. Light refreshments were served to the hundred or more guests present, who included members of the faculty of the University, parents and friends of the members of the club.Mr. and Mrs. Cotton were among the special guests who remained to be entertained at dinner at night.

State Convention

Glendale was splendidly represented last night at the opening session in Pasadena of the convention of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations.The meeting was held in the Pasadena High school, where Mrs.
E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, was surrounded by delegates from every Glendale P-T. A. A gratifying feature was that many of the fathers were present.Mrs. Albert Deike, president of the Pasadena federation, presided over the meeting. There were greetings from the hostess city given by Mrs. Deike, Superintendent of Schools J. F. West, a representative of the Chamber of Commerce and from the national president, Mrs. A. H. Reeve.Speakers of the evening were Judge Edwin F. Hahn on "Juvenile Protection" and Mrs. Reeve on "The National Aims of the P. T. A."

Chosen Curator

Mrs. Charles H. Temple has been unanimously re-elected curator of the Bible department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, it was announced, following the department meeting yesterday morning.Under her leadership Miss Winifred Rouze, well known Bible student and lecturer, has given a course of lectures at the club which have been enjoyed not only by club members but by all Glendadians desiring to attend.Miss Rouze gave her final lecture yesterday, speaking on "Feasts of Trumpets, Atonement and Tabernacles."The department is to have the annual luncheon Thursday, May 29, at the clubhouse.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John Verdugo of 711 South Glendale avenue were among the guests at a delightful family dinner party recently at the home of Mrs. Verdugo's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs.
Albert Englehart of San Fernando, who were entertaining for their daughter, Teresa, on the occasion of her sixteenth birthday anniversary.Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker and children of Ocean Park, Mr. and Mrs.
Lambert, and Mrs. Lambert's mother, Mrs. Alberto Paronia of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Verdugo of Glendale; Mrs. Rosa
Ramirez, Miss Teresa Englehart and the host and hostess.The honoree was the recipient of many beautiful birthday gifts.

Meet at Church

Glendale Presbyterian church women met all day yesterday at the church for missionary programs.The meeting began at 10 o'clock in the morning, with Mrs.
A. D. Smith in charge. She introduced Mrs. J. E. Colvin, temperance chairman, who in turn presented Mrs. Edith Dockery of the Glendale W. C. T. U., who spoke on "Temperance and Missions."Mrs. D. F. Snyder of Circle 4 has arranged the program.
Devotionals were led by Mrs.
Runyon, and Mrs. Allison, a returned missionary from Guate-mal, spoke on "Latin America."
Musical numbers were given by Mesdames A. A. Draper and H.
McGullinger, and Little Miss Reynolds, vocalists.Of interest to the church women was the announcement that the deficit of the mission board has been cleared.Luncheon was served by Mrs.
E. D. Sutton's Circle 10.
During lunch Mrs. Jackson of the Chicago Presbyterian Training school talked on her work.
Mrs. J. M. Eyerick directed the business meeting held later in the afternoon.

Concert Before 'Messiah'
Is PresentedTentative plans for giving a concert before the presentation of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," at Christmas time, were outlined last night by John Smallman at the meeting of the Oratorio department of the Glendale Music club.At the rehearsal next week, Mr.
Smallman stated he would give some work on several church numbers by Italian composers.The work of this musical organization is most worthwhile for both professional and amateur singers, and more members are being solicited.

CLUB'S SCHEDULE OF MEETINGS TO BE RE-ARRANGED

Proposed By-Laws Revision Calls for Assemblies Twice Monthly

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
 Of The Evening News Staff.
 That the Tuesday Afternoon club will doubtless return during the coming year, the women enthusiastically undertook a program of weekly meetings. However, this schedule has proven most strenuous in view of the fact that the majority of the club members are actively interested in other organizations, which also demand their time.

With the occupancy of the new club home and the beginning of the past club year, the women enthusiastically undertook a program of weekly meetings. However, this schedule has proven most strenuous in view of the fact that the majority of the club members are actively interested in other organizations, which also demand their time.

Attendance at the club meetings has decreased in the extreme and it is thought that by returning to the bi-monthly plan a renewed interest in club affairs will be stimulated and a majority of the membership, rather than a minority, will attend the meetings during the coming year.

A vote on the proposed revision will be taken at the next club meeting.

Garden Fete Plans
 Of prime interest to the club women yesterday were final plans for the garden fete Saturday at the L. C. Brand estate. This interest, coupled with a club luncheon, afternoon business hour, and musical program filled the day full.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, presided over the luncheon hour and afternoon meeting.

The club members and guests were most happy to greet as honored speaker during the luncheon hour, Clara Bryant Heywood, chairman of drama for the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Heywood prefaced her talk on drama by stating that over 15,000,000 persons attend picture

War Vet Wants to Go to Church But He Needs Clothes

Mrs. C. W. Schwitters of the relief committee of the American Legion Auxiliary has received a request for a good suit of clothes for a world war veteran at Sawtelle who desires to go to church and does not have a suitable suit to wear. He receives no compensation from the government and is without funds. Any suit, size 38, with inner seam measuring 30 inches, that is in good condition will be gladly received.

Anyone having a suit which they would be glad to give to this veteran are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Schwitters at Glendale 1564-M. Other wearing apparel needed is a hat No. 7; shirts size 15, and union suit underwear size 40.

HOLD REHEARSALS FOR GREEK DRAMA

Seniors of Occidental to Present Unusual Play On June 12

Rehearsals for the Greek play, the Bacchanals of Euripides, which will be presented by the senior class of Occidental college on the night of June 12 in the upper quad of the campus, are being held regularly. Gilmore Brown has selected the entire cast. Assisting Mr. Brown are Mrs. Harriet Dement Packard, Mrs. Frederick Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert and Robert Sharp. Mrs. Packard has charge of the chorus singing and Miss Gilbert the dancers. Mrs. Johnson has written all the music and songs for the production. The translation of the Bacchanals is by Professor W. Ward, head of the Greek department of Occidental college.

Miss Margaret Crawford has the role of Agave. The complete cast is as follows: Dionysus, Claire Morrow; Coryphaeus, Lillian Zellhoefer; Tiresias, Ernest Giffen; Cadmus, Herbert Hamilton; Pentheus, Jack Cosgrove; First Messenger, Carl Lindquist; Second Messenger, Merritt Moore; Agave, Margaret Crawford.

COUNCILMAN SAM DAVIS QUILTS AS C. OF C. MEMBER

Resigns From Organization As Result of Recent Tent Show 'War'

As an aftermath of the dispute in the City Council, Monday, over the granting of an additional ten days' permit to the tent show that is now running on North Brand boulevard, and which was opposed by the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Councilman Sam Davis, who championed the cause of the show, last night presented his resignation as a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

In his letter Councilman Davis stated that he would not pay the dues that may at present be charged against him on the books of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Davis' letter was tabled without any action being taken, beyond the acceptance of his resignation.

H. M. Bennett of 600 South Brand boulevard also resigned at the same time.

Highway Celebration
 The opening of the new bridge on the Mulholland drive, immediately south of San Fernando, over the Pacoima wash, is to be celebrated by the San Fernando Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, May 27, to be followed by a basket dinner at the old San Fernando mission. State and county officials, including Governor Richardson, and other notables, have been invited to participate in the exercises, and an invitation has been received by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, asking that a delegation from this city attend.

Director George B. Karr, who was recently appointed a director of the Greater San Fernando Valley association, urged that the invitation be accepted and that the closest relations be cultivated between Glendale and the upper valley cities. The directors will attend in a body and as many automobiles as possible from Glendale will be secured to carry a strong representation from this city to the celebration.

This will throw next week's board meeting forward to noon of Tuesday, May 27.

Frank Kerwin applied a "Ladies Free" poultice to his baseball attendance Sunday and "drew" quite a crowd.

There is a suspicion among certain race followers since the Kentucky Derby that Altwood was a hobby horse.

If a straw hat is a hay helmet in Glendale, is the Kentucky Derby a blue grass bonnet in Louisville?

"One Wounded in Long Beach Love Shooting" so the headline says. Love is indeed a tender passion.

Pasadena is in for some investigations regarding the violation of a rooster-keeping ordinance. Evidently Glendale is not the only city that has been listening to fowl language.

It may be a coincidence, but it looks very suspicious. On one page of a Los Angeles paper we found the announcement that Mayor Cryer had announced a "Clean-up Week." On the next page appeared this headline: "Four City Officials Operating Gold Mine."

"Police Halt Girl Hike to Europe," (headline). Probably on account of the dust along the three-mile limit.

News item from Brawley: "Two cars of hay shipped today were the first of a large number that will be moved within the next week." May 13 must have created quite a demand.

Speaking of menageries, optician this from a baseball story: "Angels beat Beavers; Payne pitched a whale of a game; one Beaver was safe on a muffed fly." Marty Krus probably thinks his team is a white elephant, but the fans say they are poor fish of the diving variety.

That aviator who was recently arrested for flying while intoxicated was probably carried away by the spirit of prohibition times.

"Jack Dempsey Adopts 50 Boys," and then the fun began.

Verdugo Hills really slogan: "We are high above the fog, welcome to our mist."

DELEGATES END DISTRICT MEET AT CHURCH HERE

Outline Future Plans for College; Discuss Work of Missionaries

Delegates from the Christian churches of the Pasadena district met in convention at the Central Christian church of Glendale yesterday afternoon and night. The principal speaker of the day was G. W. Muckley of St. Louis, secretary of the United Christian Missionary society.

At the afternoon session C. R. Hudson, state superintendent of missions, addressed the delegates on the subject of the state board of missions. He outlined the work of the board in establishing and supporting new churches in small communities throughout California and gave a detailed account of help given churches in buying lots and erecting buildings.

Mr. Hudson drew attention to the fact that Christian churches in California have been growing in the last few years. He said that present plans called for two and a half million dollars' worth of improvements in church buildings over the state.

Tells of College
 F. M. Rogers, chancellor of Christian colleges of California, gave an account of the work being accomplished at the institution in Los Angeles. He outlined the progress at the Christian College on Vermont avenue from the time it was founded, four years ago, to the present date.

He reported that more than 100 students are in attendance at present, and that this number is expected to be increased to 500 when the construction program is completed. A dormitory that will accommodate 300 students is under construction at the present time.

Mr. Muckley spoke briefly at the afternoon session and at 8 o'clock addressed the convention on the subject of "Missionary Work Among the Disciples of Christ." He gave a complete history of the Christian Missionary society, describing the struggles of the organization in the early

Speakers Outline Purposes Of Greater Los Angeles Association

Gives Good Reasons For Locating Industries Here

The natural labor efficiency and manufacturing advantages of Southern California over any other part of America were strikingly set forth at last night's open meeting of the Greater Los Angeles association, held in the editorial rooms of the new Glendale Evening News office, 139 South Brand boulevard, when a letter addressed by President John C. Thorne of the California Thorne Cordage company, Inc., of Los Angeles, was read by A. C. Moore of 1246 East California avenue, Glendale, a member of the organization.

The letter, which was addressed to Harry H. Merrick, president of the Greater Los Angeles association, follows:
 H. H. Merrick,
 Pres., Greater Los Angeles Assn.,
 Los Angeles, California.

My dear Sir:—You have asked me to write a letter giving the reasons which influenced our decision to establish a cordage plant in the Los Angeles territory. This I am glad to do:

FIRST—A NATURAL MARKET FOR OUR PRODUCT: This, obviously, was the prime consideration. From our location at the Harbor we can look over a territory which actually uses twice the quantity of rope called for by our production schedule.

SECOND—PROXIMITY TO RAW MATERIAL: The Philippine Islands (85 per cent) and Mexico (15 per cent) are the dependable sources of manila, sisal, and other fibres used in the manufacture of cordage. This material comes by ship direct to our factory. Eastern factories producing cordage of the same character must ship across the continent. (65 per cent of the rope used in the Los Angeles territory is manufactured in the East).

THIRD—MANUFACTURING ADVANTAGES: Climate—Our survey showed that in this section we may depend upon 300 days of labor efficiency, as against the 200-day average on the Atlantic coast. In other words, with the same number of employees we can in two years show an output equal to three years' production in the East.

Fuel Power: California hydro-electric is the cheapest power in the world. California crude oil is the cheapest fuel. An Eastern factory, having the same capacity as our plant, requires approximately 500 tons of coal per year. In addition, extra space for fuel, boilers and engines is needed. In the items of fuel and power alone the saving to us will be over $7500.00 per year.

Labor Turnover: The money lost in eastern industrial centers through labor turn-over is a matter of statistics. The factors which make for permanency and contentment are not present there. They are, however, present here, as nowhere else. These specific instances give us a splendid, safe margin of advantage over eastern competitors. The money we will save as outlined above, would, if set aside for "sinking fund," be ample to cover the dividends on our preferred stock and to retire the entire issue in ten years.

It is perhaps consistent to say here that these considerations apply to other varied industries. In fact, we have, while conducting our own survey of this territory during the past six months, been deeply impressed with the existing real opportunity for new enterprises. The demand—the market—is here, the labor is here, the raw material is here, the transportation is here—and the welcome is here.

In this connection I must, in justice, emphasize the importance

ENTHUSIASTIC IS MEETING HELD AT THE NEWS OFFICE

Plans Being Made to Stage Great Public Gathering In Near Future

The aims and purposes of the Greater Los Angeles association were set forth in full at a meeting of the Glendale committee and friends held last night in the editorial rooms of the new Glendale Evening News building, 139 South Brand boulevard, Chairman Charles B. Guthrie, presiding.

Morgan Wood of Los Angeles, a powerful speaker, characterized the association as "working in the groove of necessity," and referred to Mr. Guthrie, a vice-president and one of the founders of the Greater Los Angeles association, as "one of the best posted men behind the movement."

Sold On Southland

The message of each community's and each individual's personal contact with the association was brought by Mr. Wood. "The world is sold on southern California," he declared. "People are coming here to live. It is up to us to provide industries, that will, in turn, provide payrolls. It is wrong to lure men here and then not make it possible for them to stay."

"The Industrial Finance corporation, created by the Greater Los Angeles association, will bring the anvil and the forge and the smokstack each to the community best suited for the particular industry, so that the hundreds of thousands who yearly pour into southern California may find work and remain to build up the country."

The fact that the association seeks not to supplant any existing organization, but, rather, to co-operate with it and carry on where it leaves off, was stressed by Mr. Wood, who pointed out that neither a Chamber of Commerce nor a bank is equipped to finance industries on long-term loans, which the Industrial Finance corporation proposes to do.

Indicates Method
 To make this point clear Mr. Wood assumed that a plant in St. Louis wanted to locate here, and showed how the Industrial Finance corporation of the Greater Los Angeles association would co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce to bring it here, then cooperate with the bank by advancing credits and carrying it through the first critical period of development, then selling the proven securities to banks and individuals in the market for such gilded paper, thus creating a

LOCAL GIRL IN ORATORICAL MEET

Miss Helen Sherwood Chosen To Represent Oxy at Annual Contest

Miss Helen Sherwood of Glendale will represent Occidental college in the women's annual oratorical contest to be held under the auspices of the Forensic League of Southern California. The contest will be in the University of California, Southern branch, auditorium, Thursday night, May 22. Miss Sherwood has shown much ability in oratorical work this year.

This meet will close the Occidental forensic activities for the year. During the year Occidental has taken part in many debates, both for men and women, and the teams were successful. To close the debating season the Tiger team defeated the University of Arizona.

The University of Southern California, Pomona, Whittier, Redlands, Southern branch and Occidental will all have representatives at the contest. The subject may be on any phase of current topics.

Elect Two Occidental Students to Society

Frank Bradshaw and Francis Henshaw, two Occidental college students, were initiated into the Occidental chapter of the Tau Kappa Alpha national debating fraternity yesterday. The two forensic men qualified for membership by their exceptional ability in debating and oratory. Frank Bradshaw is the newly-elected president of the student body for the coming year. Francis Henshaw is a freshman this year, but has been a prominent member of the varsity debating team.

Calteck Glee Club In Program at College

The California Institution of Technology Glee club, under the direction of William Ogier, Jr., presented an interesting program at Occidental college this morning, before the entire Tiger student body at regular weekly assembly.

The Women's Glee club of Occidental were in charge of the performance, and will present a return concert at the Calteck institution in the near future.

Why I Am In Glendale

I saw your city nestling
 At the base of friendly peaks,
 I looked upon your foot-hills
 And their gently rolling slopes;
 I saw your love-lit bungalows
 And homes where virtue seeks
 To honor sturdy manhood
 And encourage fondest hopes.

I saw your fairest garlands,
 And I scented their perfume;
 I marveled at your roses
 And your wild flowers, scattered wide;
 I sauntered through your orchards
 While the trees were rich in bloom,
 And I hungered for a cottage
 In this Eden to abide.

Of course I saw your progress,
 And the spirit which prevailed;
 I saw a city growing
 From the mountains toward the sea;
 I caught your inspiration
 And your hopes that ne'er have failed,
 And I said: "O Magic Glendale,
 You are Home, Sweet Home, to me."

"The Habit of Saving"

The President put his finger on the keynote when he said, "The habit of saving is a constructive virtue."

It is interesting, encouraging and pleasing to watch so many of our savings customers come in regular as clockwork and deposit a fixed amount each month.

We know they have a high purpose and are diligently working and saving for it. It is a habit with them. They are increasing their power in both finance and character, as well as building independence.

Form the habit of regular saving with us. We pay six per cent on any amount, paid in at any time, and left six months or longer.

THE IMMIGRATION BILL

No more important measure was ever passed by Congress than the Johnson immigration bill. This country should have no wish to insult or to injure the pride of any other nation, great or small, but there should be no delay in putting into effect a measure that is so vital to our national integrity and welfare.

The Saturday Evening Post calls attention to the protests of Italy, Rumania, Japan and other countries against our immigration bill, and states that Japan, in excluding Chinese and Koreans—people of her own race—from Japan, says that such a policy is in the interests of the Japanese people. Japan is within her rights in making her own immigration laws.

"We should regulate our immigration," says the Post, "as do all other nations, in accordance with our own interests. . . . There is not a nation in Europe, not to mention Japan, that would stand for thirty minutes the immigration stuff that America has taken lying down for thirty years. . . . With all these foreign nations telling America how proud and sensitive they are, it would seem that the time had come for Americans to assert a little pride in their own country. That time will soon be gone if we let the hyphenate vote and alien interests influence our immigration policy."

The Post says the nationals of other countries may be as good or better than Americans, their civilization may be further advanced and their culture may be finer, but unless they are fitted racially to become Americans and want to become Americans they are not for us.

Speaking of the restriction of immigration thirty years ago, Phillips Brooks said: "No nation, as no man, has a right to take possession of a choice bit of God's green earth, to exclude the foreigner from its territory, that it may live more comfortably and be a little more at peace. But if to this particular nation there has been given the development of a certain part of God's earth for universal purposes; if the world, in the great march of centuries, is going to be richer for the development of a certain national character, built up by a larger type of manhood here, then for the world's sake, for the sake of every nation that would pour in upon us that which would disturb that development, we have a right to stand guard over it."

AUTOMOBILES AND PROSPERITY

Since January 1, 1924, 1,121,698 automobiles have been registered in the state of California, truly an astounding record and one that has a vital significance. Automobiles spell prosperity in two ways, first in the investment they represent, and second in the payroll they make possible.

At an average price of $500, that great total of 1,121,698 cars registered to date this year in California means a rolling investment of over half a billion dollars. And in garages, service stations and accessory shops, it means in the aggregate billions of dollars invested in the state, with thousands upon thousands of men and women drawing weekly pay checks.

Automobiles may truly be called California's biggest industry. Likewise they are Glendale's biggest industry. In recognition of this fact, the local Automobile Dealers' association has decided to hold an auto show here in June. This show is to be held in the new Court Motor company building at 901 South Brand boulevard.

Says Lyman P. Clark, president of that association: "The Glendale automobile show is going to be thoroughly representative of the automobile industry in this city, an industry that ranks among the leaders."

All members of the association will enter exhibits and the show will equal in variety and brilliance anything ever seen in this section of Southern California, barring Los Angeles, which holds a great auto show yearly, as do New York, Chicago and other large cities.

Three factors make California a leading automobile state—good roads, magnificent scenery and ideal climate. Naturally, with well over a million cars rolling over the highways of the state, there exists a distinct traffic problem, which makes itself felt in Glendale as elsewhere. This problem is being solved by a common sense cooperation between the public and its servants, the police. As the number of cars operating in California approaches the 2,000,000 mark, this cooperation must become more complete.

WOMEN WHO WORK

Today over 7,000,000 women in the United States are regularly employed. Less than a century ago there were but seven occupations open to women—teaching, typesetting, taking boarders, needlework, bookbinding, domestic service and cotton mill work. Today not seven occupations are closed to women.

With the rapidity of industrial development itself, have women come to the front as wage earners, in this country. Their motto is independence, and they live and grow on it, counting the old life a parasite existence. What a difference between the old idea of sitting home waiting for a laggard suitor, is this idea of contacting with the busy world, where not only opportunities for economic freedom are on every hand, but suitors are more plentiful.

Business women, yours is the satisfaction of work that brings independence. Your days hum with vital interests.

THE CHURCH AND THE WORLD

A man high in the councils of his church was asked the other day whether beer is intoxicating. He is quoted as replying to the effect that he has not had an opportunity to witness the effect of beer-drinking since his student days.

If the church today hasn't met with that measure of success it deserves as the agency of truth and right, isn't that the reason? The clergy and the church keep too far away from what they designate as the world. How can the church save sinners when it will not associate with them? Jesus, himself, was not ashamed to be known as the friend of publicans and sinners.

President Butler of Columbia university is quoted as saying the Republican party will lose eleven states if it does not insert a "wet" plank in its platform. Maybe so. But how many states will it lose if the party follows his advice?

Much street repair work and the laying of new pavement is under way in Glendale. The program should be carried out as quickly as possible, for the rainy season does not hesitate about coming and then repair work is forced to lag.

Bill and Maggie work over-time to get money enough to send son and daughter to college. A few years later Genevieve and Reggie return and try to show Dad and Ma how little they know.

MONARCHY MAD!

The Law Maker and the Business Man

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The law maker ought to help the business man. The nation is composed almost entirely of business men; that is, men who are working for profit and their dependents.

The more business we can do and the more we prosper at it the happier and stronger is the nation.

Yet all too many people are afflicted with the idea that business is something sordid and that a business man is purely selfish and can have no high motive and that the bigger the business is, the crookeder it is.

Unfortunately our law makers are constantly furthering this evil and vicious gospel.

The income tax is an enormous governmental device for hindering and discouraging business.

For one law passed by our national legislature to encourage thrift and business adventure there are ten laws passed discouraging these things.

Eldridge R. Johnson is the head of the Victor Talking Machine company, one of the great business concerns of the country. In a telegram, which he sent some time ago to Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee, he reveals that taxes, of one kind and another, have been taking away from him more than his total income during the last six years.

His telegram, as quoted by B. C. Forbes, the financial writer, declares:

"I started the business that is now the Victor Talking Machine company in 1894 on my own small capital. I have reinvested 56 per cent of the earnings in expansion. I have distributed as much of the stock as is advisable; there are now 500 stockholders and 10,000 employees, all receiving high wages and many receiving large salaries. My taxes, income tax and computed inheritance taxes, amount to 108 per cent of my income since 1917, and if the House bill becomes a law, these taxes will amount to 128 per cent of my income since 1917. The gift tax, the stock dividend tax and inheritance taxes are all capital taxes; in truth, veiled confiscation. There can be no economy in low income taxes if capital taxes are to be raised. These taxes are not only cruel but they are foolish; they will injure everyone eventually and I firmly believe slowly develop a serious national disaster."

The business man employs labor. He enables men to support their families. He is the backbone of the country.

Why cannot Congress and the Senate devote some of their energies toward helping him instead of hindering him?

Congress is obsessed with the vicious idea of equalizing incomes and, translated into plain common sense, that means penalizing the successful and the thrifty, taking money away from them by taxation and giving it to the incompetent and the lazy.

Our legislators are entirely too much occupied in the Bolshevik business of killing thrift and enterprise in order to get votes.

It would be a good thing if every man, upon being elected to the national legislature, should be required to pass a primary examination on the simple principles of political economy.

PRaisEWORTHY PROJECT

(From San Francisco Journal)

A bill prepared by many lawyers that is to be presented to the next session of our legislature is entitled "An act to create the state bar of the state of California." Its object is to institute a self-governing bar as a state institution. It aims at helping the public by maintaining a high standard of ethics and by exacting proper qualifications from practitioners and would-be practitioners.

The proposed law would, if enacted, recognize lawyers as part of the judicial system; organize the legal system as a unit; bestow disciplinary authority over misbehaving lawyers upon the state bar, and fix both legal and moral responsibility. The organization would be empowered to enact necessary regulations for controlling the legal calling; the election of fifteen governors from and by the California bar; districting the state, and power for the governors, under the Supreme Court's approval, to set the qualifications for admission to the practice of law. These governors of the state institution would also be authorized to formulate a code of professional conduct, the Supreme Court approving; to discipline and disbar, though disbarment and discipline would be reviewed by the Supreme Court and to summon witnesses.

The measure would not give authority to any association now existing. It would interfere with none. It would not give absolute authority to the proposed bar nor final control of discipline. It would neither limit nor alter the disciplinary authority that our courts now possess and use.

The proposed policy appears to be sound. It is needed practically, for in great communities the local associations of lawyers find it virtually impracticable to discipline unworthy practitioners. It is credited with working well in Canada, England and France,

A TOURING STATUE

(From Santa Ana Register)

It is a good idea on the part of the new republican government in Greece to send on a tour of the United States, as a representative of Greece, the famous statue of Hermes carved more than 2,000 years ago by the great Praxiteles.

The Greece of which educated men and women think in this modern world, is the Greece of the past rather than the present. The beautiful statue of Hermes, whom the Romans called Mercury, messenger of the gods and patron of art, science and commerce, is a more fitting representative of historic Greece than any living man could be, though it were Venizelos himself. Ancient Greece taught the world the things that Hermes stood for.

It is appropriate, too, that Hermes should come to America, which more than any other country today represents the Greece of olden days. America, as we believe, is the torch-bearer of culture and progress for the present and future.

Newspapers naturally feel a special interest in this matter, for Hermes or Mercury is regarded now as particularly the patron of the press. If a divinity were really embodied in that marble, as reverent Greeks once believed, he might stand on our skyscrapers and mountain tops in wonder and admiration at the way in which men have developed his work of spreading news. He might find our newspapers, too, representative of all his other functions and activities. For the press not only carries news but promotes art, science and commerce on a scale that the old Greeks never dreamed of.

Every family should have enough chairs to sit on while the best ones are pinch-hitting as wardrobes.—Charleston Courier.

Now fades the last long streak of snow,
Now burgeons every maze of quick
About the flowering squares, and thick
By ash roots the violets grow.

Now rings the woodland loud and long,
The distance takes a livelier hue,
And drowned in yonder living blue
The large becomes a sightless song.

Now dance the light on lawn and lea,
The flocks are whiter down the vale
And milkier every milky sea,
On winding stream or distant sea;

Where now the seaman pipes, or dives
In yonder greeting gleam, and fly
The happy birds that change their sky
To build and brood, that live their lives

From land to land, and in my breast
Spring wakens too; and my regret
Comes an April violet,
And buds and blossoms like the rest.

The People —of— Anytown Character Sketches

It was before I can remember that the Rev. Dr. Burns, fresh from the university and with his young bride on his arm, came to the Presbyterian church of Anytown. From that day until he died, a few years ago, he lived a life of devotion to his church and to Anytown. I can scarcely picture Anytown without Dr. Burns; he was such a vital part of the community life. What a record of baptisms, of marriages and burials he must have had! What a man he was! It is a rare thing for a minister of any denomination to spend all of his life in one church, but Dr. Burns' love of humanity was so strong it seemed to compel our love in return. He was so spiritual, he had the good of our souls so much at heart that Anytown would never have dreamed of asking him to resign. He was a part of the town, like our homes and like the big elm and maple trees that lined our streets.

People usually regard a minister as public property; they do not seem to realize that he sometimes needs rest or wishes privacy. His home should be open at all times and he and his wife should be available for any service at any hour of the day or night. We, in Anytown, were thoughtless in this respect; we had no wish to burden our minister. As for Dr. Burns and his wife, they took it as a matter of course that we should call upon them for any and every service. Mrs. Burns was born to be a minister's wife for, in addition to caring for her home and rearing eight children, she was always at her husband's side aiding him in whatever work he had to do. She missed very few of the church services, she accompanied her husband on his round of calls, she led the prayer meeting for him when he was ill and it was whispered that she sometimes helped him to prepare his sermons. Like many another man Dr. Burns owed much of his success in his work to his wife.

Dr. Burns would have cut a fine figure in a much more pretentious church than ours. He was a large man and bore himself with great dignity as became his profession. He was never so dignified, however, as to hold himself aloof from any of us. The last time I saw him his hair was quite white and hung like a heavy, silk fringe about the bald spot on the top of his head.

Religion, not theology, was Dr. Burns' theme. He never preached anything he didn't practice. He had one formula for those who would live the Christian life, "Love God and your fellow-men and the rest will be easy." Truly he loved God and his fellow-men and his love was reflected in his face. He had at heart the spiritual welfare of every soul in Anytown.

I heartily sympathize with the young men who, in turn, have come to take Dr. Burns' place in Anytown. It is so difficult for Anytown to change. They expect the new minister to take up the work where Dr. Burns laid it down and no one could do that.

The After House

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, ships on the yacht Ella as deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate from an attack of typhoid fever. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vail are the passengers. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid, the cook and Williams, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singletree captain. Richardson knocks Singletree down. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vail, Captain Richardson and the Maid, Karen, are found murdered with an axe. The men put Leslie in charge, and they decide to head back to port. The axe is found where it was flung into the stewardess' berth. She says that Karen had been roused by a bell in the night, she thought Mrs. Turner's, but Mrs. Turner says she did not ring. Karen told the stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was outside the door. She opened the door, screamed and fell dead. Mrs. Sloan said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the axe toward her. The crew imprisons Singletree. Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping discipline. They lock the axe in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie sees Elsa pick up the pantry key in Turner's room. She tries to throw it into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night Adams, in the crew's nest, says he has seen a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurls down a marlinespike, which disappears, but is found next day fastened over the side of the ship. Then one night Burns is knocked unconscious, the key is taken from his neck, the captain's cabin is opened and the axe disappears, with its sure evidence of finger-prints. The Ella docks at Philadelphia, where MacWhirter, Leslie's friend and classmate, meets him. Singletree is put on trial for murder. The different members of the crew and the passengers are questioned.

XXVII—I TESTIFY

Turner, pale and shaking, left the stand at 2 o'clock that day, and I was recalled. My earlier testimony had merely established the finding of the bodies. I was now to have a bad two hours. I was an important witness, probably the most important. I had heard the scream that had revealed the tragedy, and had been in the main cabin of the after house only a moment or so after the murder. I had found the bodies, Vail still living, and had been with the accused mate when he saw the captain prostrate at the foot of the forward companion.

All of this, aided by skillful questions, I told as exactly as possible. I told of the mate's strange manner on finding the bodies; I related, to a breathless quiet, the placing of the bodies in the jolly-boat, and the reading of the burial service over them; I told of the little boat that followed us, like some avenging spirit, carrying by day a small American flag, union down, and at night a white light. I told of having to increase the length of the tow line as the heat grew greater, and of a fear I had that the rope would separate, or that the mysterious hand that was the author of the misfortunes would cut the line.

I told of the long nights without sleep, while, with our few available men, we tried to work the Ella back to land; of guarding the after house; of a hundred false alarms that set our nerves quivering and our hearts leaping. And I made them feel, I think, the horror of a situation where each man suspected his neighbor, feared and loathed him, and yet stayed close by him because a known danger is better than an unknown horror.

The record of my examination is particularly faulty, McWhirter having allowed personal feeling to interfere with accuracy. Here and there in the margins of his notebook I find unflattering allusions to the prosecuting attorney; and after one question, an impeachment of my motives, to which Mac took violent exception, no answer at all is recorded, and in a furious scrawl is written: "The little whippersnapper! Leslie could smash him between his thumb and finger!"

I found another curious record—a leaf torn from the book, and evidently designed to be sent to me, but failing its destination, was as follows: "For Heaven's sake, don't look at the girl so much! The newspapermen're on."

But, to resume my examination. The first questions were not of particular interest. "Did the prisoner know you had moved to the after house?" "I do not know. The forecastle hands knew."

"Tell what you know of the quarrel on July 31 between Captain Richardson and the prisoner." "I saw it from a deck window," I described it in detail.

"Why did you move to the after house?" "At the request of Mrs. Johns. She said she was nervous."

"What reason did she give?" "That Mr. Turner was in a dangerous mood; he had quarreled with the captain and was quarreling with Mr. Vail."

"Did you know the arrangement of rooms in the after house? How the people slept?" "In a general way."

"What do you mean by that?" "I knew Mr. Vail's room and Miss Lee's."

"Did you know where the maids slept?" "Yes."

"You have testified that you were locked in. Was the key kept in the lock?" "Yes."

"Would whoever locked you in have had only to move the key from one side of the door to the other?" "Yes."

"Was the key left in the lock when you were fastened in?" "No."

"Now, Dr. Leslie, we want you to tell us what the prisoner did that night when you told him what had happened."

"I called to him to come below, for God's sake. He seemed dazed and at a loss to know what to do. I told him to get his revolver and call the captain. He went into the forward house and got his revolver, but he did not call the captain. We went below and stumbled over the captain's body."

"What was the mate's condition?" "When we found the body?" "His general condition." "He was intoxicated. He collapsed on the steps when we found the captain. We both almost collapsed."

"What was his mental condition?" "If you mean, was he frightened, we both were." "Was he pale?" "I did not notice then. He was pale as I looked at him later, when the crew had gathered."

"About this key: was it ever found? The key to the storeroom?" "Yes." "When?" "That same morning." "Where? And by whom?" "Miss Lee found it on the floor in Mr. Turner's room."

The prosecution was totally unprepared for this reply, and proceedings were delayed for a moment while the attorneys consulted. On the resumption of my examination, they made a desperate attempt to impeach my character as a witness, trying to show that I had sailed under false pretenses; that I was so feared in the after house that the women refused to allow me below, or to administer to Mr. Turner the remedies I prepared; and, finally, that I had surrendered myself to the crew as a suspect, of my own accord.

Against this the cross-examination threw all its weight. The prosecuting attorneys, in a vindictive dropped the question of the key, the shrewd young lawyer for the defense followed it up:

"This key, Dr. Leslie, do you know where it is now?" "Yes; I have it."

"Will you tell how it came into your possession?" "Certainly. I picked it up on the deck, a night or so after the murders. Miss Lee had—dropped it. I caught it. Miss Lee's eye, and she gave me a warm glance of gratitude."

"Have you the key with you?" "Yes." "Produced it."

"Are you a football player, doctor?" "I was."

"I thought I recalled you. I have seen you play several times. In spite of our friend, the attorney for the commonwealth, I do not believe we will need to call character witnesses for you. Did you see Miss Lee pick up the key to the storeroom in Mr. Turner's room?" "Yes."

"Did it occur to you at the time that the key had any significance?" "I wondered how it got there."

"You say you listened inside the locked door, and heard no sound, but felt a board rise up under your knee. A moment or two later, when you called the prisoner, he was intoxicated, and reeled. Do you mean to tell us that a drunken man could have made his way in the darkness, through a cabin filled with chairs, tables, and a piano, in absolute silence?"

The prosecuting attorney was on his feet in an instant, and the objection was sustained. I was next shown the keys, club and file taken from Singletree's mattress. "You have identified these objects as having been found concealed in the prisoner's mattress. Do any of these keys fit the captain's cabin?" "No."

"Who saw the prisoner during the days he was locked in his cabin?" "I saw him occasionally. The cook saw him when he carried him his meals."

"Did you ever tell the prisoner where the axe was kept?" "No."

"Did the members of the crew know?" "I believe so. Yes."

"Was the key that Dr. Burns carried the key to the captain's cabin a matter of general knowledge?" "No. The crew knew that Burns and I carried the keys; they did not know which one each carried, unless—"

"Go on, please."

"If any one had seen Burns take Mrs. Johns forward and show her the axe, he would have known."

"Who were on deck at that time?" "All the crew were on deck, the forecastle being closed. In the crew's nest was McNamara; Jones

Nadine's price on scores of up-to-the-minute hats that emphasize the latest degrees of fashion.

$7.50

Hats in this price group you would ordinarily expect to pay much more for—a range of designs and colors to fit every individuality.

$10

The economy of chain store buying enables Nadine to offer truly exquisite summer models at the low price of $10.00. You must see these creations to fully appreciate their quality and workmanship.

Nadine
offers fashion's latest creations—priced low

UNDOUBTEDLY you have visited NADINE'S and have wondered at the very wide selection of the season's loveliest hat creations—priced so low. It has seemed just like some exclusive shop in one of the great style centers, with its distinctive designs and its lovely materials in the colors of the new season.

Here is the reason for the surprisingly low prices, with supreme quality and style, at this newest of Glendale's fashion centers.

NADINE'S is just one of ten great millinery stores located in the larger cities of California. The great volume of business enables this big system of hat shops to sell at minimum prices, while its buyers can select the best and latest from the world's big markets.

Women of Glendale are finding hats of charm and lovely materials priced from $5.00 to $16.50, where they expected to pay double the amount asked. Just come and study and compare the creations in the three big price groups of $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

The summer hat you have longed for is waiting for you here.

VOLCANIC DEITY STIRS IN WRATH, HAWAIIANS CLAIM

Seething Lava Mass Drops Into Earth's Maw from Hissing Crater

By JOHN F. STONE
For International News Service.

VOLCANO HOUSE, Hawaii. May 21.—Madam Pe-Le is in an angry mood; she may break a new path to the sea.

So say the old Hawaiians whose little cabins lie at the edge of the Ohia forest here on the slope of Mauna Loa mountain, where Pe-Le makes her home. White visitors, seeing less of the poet in this gigantic disturbance which has been taking place in varying phases for several weeks, nevertheless behold and hear the evidence of Pe-Le's wrath in awe.

Spectacular indeed have been the visible signs of the great underground changes which are occurring deep down in the throat of the pit.

Floor Caves In. Visitors to the volcano a few months ago saw a great sea of turbulent lava, surging, fountaining, dashing its molten waves against a rocky crater rim. Then in a night the great floor fell; forty acres of it vanished down Kilauea's iron throat. Within a few hours no fire was visible although great columns of smoke poured out and the hissing and crashing of the lava could be heard far down within the pit.

Then came the prolonged earthquake disturbance in the Puna district, twenty miles distant but in direct line with many of the ancient flows from Kilauea.

In a period of thirty-six hours more than 300 distinct shocks were counted, some of them opening up great yawning cracks in the earth.

Flee In Panic. Japanese, Filipinos and Hawaiians living in the district fled in fear of their lives. No eruption of lava accompanied these shocks, although it was believed that subterranean flows were distinguished with the aid of a geophone—a sort of glorified stethoscope used by scientists for listening in on the earth's pulse.

A few days after the Puna disturbance had subsided, watchers at the rim of the volcano became aware that a movement was taking place which was of greater proportions than usual.

PROLONGED TRIP TO EAST IS PLANNED

Mrs. W. J. Stocker to Visit Relatives and Friends In Many States

Mrs. William J. Stocker of 346 West Doran street leaves tomorrow morning for the Santa Fe for an eight-weeks' pleasure trip in the East. Mrs. Stocker is making the trip principally to visit her mother, Mrs. Maggie Hahn, in St. Joseph, Mo., and hopes to persuade her to return home with her.

She will also visit two sisters, Mrs. R. Bryson in Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. W. Hokenburg in Torrington, Conn. She also plans to visit other relatives and friends in St. Louis, Denver, Cheyenne, San Francisco and several points of interest in the northern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Stocker are proprietors of the C. & S. Cafeteria, located at 222 North Brand boulevard.

Glendale Avenue Kids Win Deciding Battle

Wilson Avenue Midgets suffered defeat in the final game of their series with Glendale avenue, when Ardell McLaughlin's flea-weight team scored decisive runs against the Wilson Avenue team's score of seven. Ardell McLaughlin and Dale Hurlburt worked for Glendale avenue, while Gilbert Eckles pitched for Wilson and Captain Denny Tatlow was behind the bat. The lineups follow:

Postal Employees to Hold Dance May 29

Postal employees of Glendale are planning a dance, to be held at the Knights of Pythias hall, Brand Boulevard and Park street, on the night of May 29. The affair will be strictly limited to employees of the local postoffice, their families and friends.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dance consists of Lloyd A. Gomes, chairman; V. Hoyer, H. Weger, Ambrose Wood and Harry E. Kelly. The Shrine club orchestra has been secured to provide music for the occasion.

Sam Davis Offers To Hold Debate With W. A. Horn

Appearing on the stage at the tent theatre where Murphy's Comedians are playing on North Brand boulevard, Councilman Sam Davis last night hurled a challenge at ex-Councilman W. A. Horn, in answer to the latter's letter in yesterday's issue of The Glendale Evening News, to debate with him in public the recent resignation of Mr. Horn from the City Council and the reasons that led to it.

Councilman Davis asked whether Mr. Horn were in the house and offered to allow him five minutes to take five minutes himself to discuss the question, defying Mr. Horn to give his reasons and to state who told him to resign, adding that, by the end of that time, he would have Mr. Horn crawling out under the tent flaps into the crowd that filled the tent to its capacity cheered Councilman Davis wildly at the conclusion of his brief speech.

MEETING HELD AT THE NEWS OFFICE

Greater Los Angeles Body's Aims are Outlined; Plan Great Gathering

reaching fund for the perpetual financing of new industries. "When you get 25,000 men thinking and talking industry mills and factories will sweep in throughout southern California," Morgan Wood concluded. "The like a great tidal wave, bringing in the wake unbounded prosperity."

Answers Questions. G. A. Beaton of Pasadena, who preceded Mr. Wood on the platform, delivered a strong, straight-forward answer to the rapid-fire barrage of questions laid down by the audience. "No big salaries are being paid to officials and workers in the Greater Los Angeles association," he declared, "and expenditure of every penny is checked by President Harry H. Merrick, Treasurer W. D. Longyear and a strong committee of three officials, before it is paid out."

"It is essential now to have a better, sounder foundation upon which to build the future of southern California. We must either go forward or backward. There must be employment to enable the man on the street to keep up his individual payments and thus maintain general values. "There exist in southern California local districts where the raw materials found in the United States, and these raw materials can be manufactured here better and cheaper than elsewhere, because climatic conditions are conducive to greater efficiency."

Many Subscribers. At this point A. C. Moore of 1246 East California avenue read a letter addressed by the president of his company, John C. Thorne of the California Thorne Cordage company, Inc., of Los Angeles, to Harry H. Merrick, president of the Greater Los Angeles association, setting forth in full the decided advantages of manufacturing in southern California. The letter appears in full elsewhere in today's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

Mr. Beaton concluded his remarks by stating that 20 per cent of the 25,000 subscribers at $25 each have already been signed up, and that the Industrial Finance corporation will come into being next week. The immense fund of from $5,000,000 to $50,000,000 will be used, he said.

First—To expand worthy present industries.

Second—To bring new industries of the right kind.

Third—To act as a balance-wheel for "slumps."

Plan Mass Meeting. Following the reading of a program of impromptu remarks were offered from the floor, among those who gave suggestions being W. H. Daniel, A. T. Cowan and Mrs. E. L. Foor. Secretary George B. Karr reported many new members.

After a discussion by W. L. Twining, A. R. Eastman and L. H. Myers on a gathering place for the next meeting, which will be a large affair, open to the general public, the Harvard High school was chosen by vote. Chairman Guthrie then named W. L. Twining and W. H. Daniel as a committee to work with him in setting a date for the next meeting. A publicity committee comprising L. H. Myers, A. T. Cowan and Chalmers D. Day was named.

It is planned to have Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell and other prominent speakers of southern California, including Morgan Wood, present at the Harvard High school meeting, when it is intended to close the Glendale membership to the Greater Los Angeles association with a big list.

Typing Students Get Proficiency Awards

Eight grade typing students at Wilson Avenue school received awards for proficiency and speed this week, certificates being issued to the following: Underwood students—John Torrey, Gilbert Grougaze, Betty Brown, David Zaun, Kingston students—Frederick Graham, Hartley Peron, Billy Hall, Anne Elizabeth Wilkinson, Richard Donaldson, Otto Nelson, Ruth Woodward and Russell Strother.

CONFER HONOR ON GLENDALE WOMAN

Mrs. H. S. McCormack Given Important Position In State Club Circles

Recognition of untiring service and great accomplishment in district, state and national club affairs has come to Mrs. H. S. McCormack of 624 North Brand boulevard, in the appointment by the California Local Biennial board to the chairmanship of public welfare in the department of General Federation of which Mrs. John A. Nash of Los Angeles is chairman. The city of Glendale and the Tuesday Afternoon club receive this announcement with pride, in addition to being a local Glendale resident, Mrs. McCormack is a life member of the Tuesday Afternoon club. She has also served most faithfully and efficiently during the past year as corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's Clubs.

In fulfilling the duties of the General Federation chairmanship, just conferred upon her, she will serve with a group of women who are outstanding personalities in club affairs. The department under Mrs. Nash has six divisions, American Citizenship, Applied Education, under Mrs. H. S. Boesche; Fine Arts under Mrs. Randall Hutchinson; Legislation under Mrs. Aaron Schloss; International Relations under Mrs. Seward A. Simons; Press and Publicity under Mrs. L. P. Boyce, and Public Welfare under Mrs. McCormack.

Official Duties. Mrs. McCormack's duties as chairman of public welfare, will include receiving and placing all exhibits for the Biennial, June 3 to 13 in Los Angeles. These exhibits will be placed in the arcade of the Biltmore hotel, in two large rooms.

Another honor Mrs. McCormack is to enjoy during the Biennial is to attend as an official delegate to the Tuesday Afternoon club. She was chosen as a delegate of the club because of the untiring and successful service she has given during the past year as corresponding secretary of the Los Angeles district.

Compromise Reached On Taxation Measure

mum and 3 and 6 per cent normal tax. The provision providing for publicity of tax returns—held objectionable by both President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon—was stricken out of the bill entirely. Instead of this kind of publicity, the bill will authorize the secretary of the treasury to permit publication of the names of the taxpayers in their local districts, together with the amount of tax paid, but there will be no divulgence of the secrets of the returns themselves.

The estate and gift tax was fixed on a sliding scale up to 40 per cent.

The tax on undistributed earnings for corporations was left at 12 1/2 per cent—the figure approved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The provision for a tax on second-class postal matter was stricken out, as was proposed to exempt tax on automobile parts and accessories.

Embalmer at Soldiers' Home 43 Years, Quits

BATH, N. Y., May 21.—Impaired health induced the resignation of John L. Slocum, undertaker of the State Soldiers' Home here, after forty-three years of service, during which he had carried 3,500 veterans to their graves.

Slocum's father, Major John L. Slocum, was the first undertaker of the home. He took the job in 1879, and two years later his son became associated with him in the undertaking business. Since then he has officiated at the burial of every soldier who has died in the institution.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE

A double garage, owned by L. Boteler on Verdugo road, directly across from the Sparr Heights Community house, burned to the ground last night shortly after 9 o'clock, causing a loss of $400.

The fire department made a run to the scene, but it had gained such headway before the alarm was turned in that the building could not be saved. The origin of the fire is unknown.

PUT OUT SMALL FIRE

Sergeant Henderson and Officer Noble of the police force broke into the American Legion room at 207 West Broadway this morning at 3:50 o'clock to extinguish a small fire which had started in the building. The blaze was extinguished before any damage had resulted.

REPORTS STOLEN CAR

Dr. R. M. Clark, 5240 Lorada street, Eagle Rock, reported to the police last night that his 1922 coupe had been stolen from in front of the Adventist church some time after 7 o'clock. The machine carried license number 532-380.

CUT ZINC OUTPUT

JOPLIN, Mo., May 21.—The curtailment of zinc production in the Tri-State field is expected to continue until output is brought down to about 12,500 tons, which would approximate demand.

COMMENT That's All

Who's Most Useful Citizen? News' Home About Ready Cosmopolitan, Provincial The Wheel Of Fortune

By Gil A. Cowan

Glendale would do well to offer a prize to its most useful citizen each year. It would certainly be a moment the civic responsibilities which rest upon the individual rather than the organization. And it might be well to hang an iron cross on the city's most carping critic also, so the public would realize that efforts along this line never go unrewarded.

The writer could name several candidates for both honors.

The Glendale Evening News now is housed in its new quarters, a few finishing touches are necessary to make the most model newspaper plant in the southwest complete.

After these few details are accomplished it will be the greatest pleasure to show the public that the city lacks a homogeneous, modern, efficient, organized equipment and personnel for the publication of a daily newspaper.

Those of the craft who have seen the office marvel not only at its housing, but revel in its equipment. And they are greatly impressed by the many little innovations for the convenience and comfort and facility of the workers.

A more complete description of the building and equipment will be made later, yet it is opportune for the last notice to call to the Glendale Evening News office and see the last stages of the transition.

Cosmopolitan to a degree equaled only by New York, London and Paris one finds Los Angeles and Southern California the most provincial community that utterly lacks a homogeneous spirit. Understand that, if you can, and a problem presents itself that is peculiar to the builders of an empire.

Utterly lacking in standards, baffling the business man and intriguing the person who would climb to success socially or otherwise there is to be found here anything and everything and little or nothing. That is another thought worth reading twice.

In simple language, the youth and virility of this wonderful country lends an irresponsibility to the course of things. Yet like the fairy tale, all is well that ends well, and whether we are going concerns no one.

To elucidate, we have here peoples of almost every race and nationality. None are in preponderance, hence they are hopelessly disorganized for mass action, yet bound together closely by old ties, as is evidenced by state picnics. A larger share of the population comes from the small towns—Main street, as it were—and the provincialism is to be found in the course of things. And while they are alike in common thought, there is no common cause, no common industry like the steel mill of Johnstown, or the paper mills of Willamette, or the furniture factories of Grand Rapids, or the motor cars of Detroit.

The shifting of business and wealth to the southland has made it possible for the small merchant of yesterday to be the magnate of today. The man of affairs, the society leader, the film star, the sportsman is graduated with this year. There was a time when the writer could name the prominent citizens, but not so now. True, there are a half dozen outstanding figures on the horizon, but they will disappear ere long.

You cannot name the leaders of tomorrow. You have no first families from whom to choose, although the first families are here. And at the same time the wheel of fortune may likely as not swing toward you and yours in this most democratic far-flung west where fame and fortune lie straight ahead.

Atlanta School Plans Novel Theatrical Set

ATLANTA, Ga., May 21.—Unprecedented in entertainment annals of this city is a series of amateur theatrical performances arranged under the joint auspices of the North Boulevard Park Civic League and the Parent-Teacher Association of a local school.

The first performance is to be staged with the "daddies" of the children of the school the lone participants. The second performance is to be participated in enthusiastically by the "mothers." The third performance will be staged by the children themselves and the young men and women above school age. Proceeds of the entertainments go for a new school auditorium.

REALTY IS ACTIVE

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—While interest in lot speculation in California cities and towns is not as manifest as last year, real estate interests in general show unusual prosperity, according to Edwin T. Keiser, state real estate commissioner, in his report to Governor Richardson.

Receipts of the department to date this year total $210,516, a large increase over receipts for the entire year 1923.

CAR AND AUTO CRASH

Mrs. S. M. Scribner, 1434 Highland avenue, drove her Buick Sedan into the rear end of a Pacific Electric car on the Pacific avenue crossing this morning at 11:15 o'clock. No one was injured in the crash. The car was in charge of Conductor O. C. Penn and Motorman L. H. Newport.

Senators Reject Henry Ford's Bid On Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Henry Ford's bid for Muscle Shoals was rejected this afternoon by the Senate agricultural committee in executive session. It still may be brought up as a substitute on the floor of the Senate, however.

CLAIMS REVENUE CUT BY MOTORS

Rail Lines Desperate Over Freight and Passenger Competition Daily

HARTFORD, Conn., May 21.—While the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad lays off employees, contending that motor transportation of freight is affecting its revenues and while the Central New England Railroad threatens to give up business because of motor competition in both freight and passenger divisions, plans are now being developed a combination of motor, rail and water transportation to solve Connecticut's peculiar problem.

New Haven, with the State's best combination of rail, highway and water routes, may be made a central point in the plan, which provides "overnight" shipment of freight to New Haven from New York and daytime distribution by truck to manufacturing towns inland, with daytime pick-ups and delivery to New Haven and night shipment to New York by water.

Unless some means of relief are afforded it is believed the railroad interests of Connecticut will seek legislation to curb motor-truck haulage, the street railways having already stopped passenger service by private motor cars. At present, the street service in large towns was thus ended almost overnight, and the precedent is expected to serve the steam rail lines.

Connecticut, with one automobile to each seven families, finds its railroad service in grain, fully taken away through the use of motors, additional cuts in train service having been made on May 1. With a network of good roads at their disposal and centers of population only a few miles apart, people are naturally taken away from the railroads for passenger service, until the railroad managements themselves are puzzled as to the outcome.

There are many indications that when the Legislature convenes into session in mid-January next, it will be asked to tackle the problem of the rail lines' motor vehicle competition. To meet the situation users of motors are laying campaign plans and may go into the fall election with a definite program.

Vice President W. L. Twining presided in the absence of President Hanson, who came late to the luncheon.

Buy In Glendale. The furniture for the board's new offices in the Security Trust & Savings bank building was bought from a Glendale firm, Mr. Twining declared, at 30 per cent less than the figures that were obtained from a number of firms in adjacent cities.

W. A. Horn was appointed chairman of a permanent committee to have charge of the listing service, and will choose four other members of his committee.

Special advertising for Glendale, to be distributed at the national convention of the National Real Estate boards at Washington, D. C., next month, was authorized, and the advertising committee will have charge of preparing the literature that is to be taken east by the delegates from Glendale.

Lecture on Titles. The next lecture in the educational course will be delivered by Lon J. Haddock next Wednesday, and on June 11 Senator W. L. Twining will speak on "The Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles."

T. H. Menck reported for the special committee that had been appointed to investigate the "White Spot" advertising to be carried in the California Real Estate magazine, and he stated that Glendale would be included as one of the White Spots, at no cost to the board. It was moved, however, that the committee be reimbursed for the outlay.

WANT WAR ABOLISHED

BUENOS AIRES, May 21.—"War must not come in a generation if the white race is going to survive," asserted Judge Florence E. Allen, of the Ohio Supreme Court, in an address here.

"We should demand abolition of war," continued Judge Allen, who is the first woman in the United States, he said, to be elected to the highest judicial position she occupies.

"The reason I do not emphasize peace is that peace is the condition of not having war. I do not believe that war could be automatically abolished merely by an international law, but we can never check war until it is illegal."

ROAD PLANS ARE TOLD BY WRIGHT

Supervisor Outlines Program Of Proposed Highway Improvements

LA CRESCENTA, May 21.—Supervisor Henry W. Wright was present at this week's La Crescenta Valley council, held in the La Crescenta schoolhouse, and gave a very interesting talk on what roads were to be taken care of here in the valley at present and what further plans were for bettering other boulevards and roads in the near future.

Four voting precincts have been planned for, to be in use at the coming election in the fall which will relieve the congestion caused by 917 registered voters attempting to vote in one precinct. Copies of the new maps will be received here very shortly.

A survey, according to Mr. Wright, has been ordered for South Los Angeles avenue, and Honolulu avenue is to be widened. The proposed road from Tujunga wash to Arroyo Seco is being worked over by surveyors.

The new budget will permit the Montrose citizens to have the police protection requested by them for the business district, the merchants in this district having provided the one watchman there now by subscription.

Under the discussion of returning the west district of La Crescenta to this district, Supervisor Wright thought a petition sent first to the school boards would take care of the question. This petition will be signed by the heads of the families in this district, all of whom wish to be claimed as La Crescenta residents.

Mr. Blanford, principal of the school, was instructed to secure the correct petition form, and also notify Tujunga and La Crescenta of the Montrose State bank act in that capacity. The next meeting will be held at Verdugo City Association of Commerce headquarters, with Harry N. Fowler presiding.

Fire Equipment

The matter of fire protection here in the valley came up, and from figures presented, it was thought there would be enough coverage to insure the installing of proper and adequate equipment. Mr. Fowler submitted an itemized statement of his figures showing that such equipment would cost $2,000. The lot to be used is that owned by the county, and therefore would not cost anything to property owners. The land is at the intersection of Honolulu and Orangewood avenues. Mr. Fowler is also getting a list of county-owned property in this valley.

Plan Wide Road

A committee was appointed on the matter of widening Michigan avenue, as there have been several serious accidents and deaths due to the extremely narrow pavement. The council will stick to this matter, promises have been made for the past six years to do this work, which has not been attended to yet.

Theodore Belanger of Montrose brought up the matter of a treasurer for the council, and it was voted to have C. A. Haskins of the Montrose State bank act in that capacity. The next meeting will be held at Verdugo City Association of Commerce headquarters, with Harry N. Fowler presiding.

Secure Right of Way For Street Widening

VERDUGO CITY, May 21.—Messrs. White and Seymour, representing the Verdugo City Association of Commerce, attended the meeting of the Tujunga Valley Realty Board at Sunland and reported that rights-of-way had been secured for the widening of Honolulu avenue from Pennsylvania avenue to the Begue ranch at the eastern limits of Tujunga. The program calls for the extension of Honolulu avenue through the Begue ranch to Los Robles avenue, Tujunga, and continuing to join with Manzanita drive near the Tujunga Catholic chapel. White and Seymour reported that preliminary arrangements for this work are progressing favorably.

Summons Firemen to Fight Montrose Blaze

MONTROSE, May 21.—The Montrose fire chief, C. L. Mead, was right on the job last night when he notified the Glendale fire department of the house fire in Sparr Heights, then took the call himself. However the house, which was empty, was a total loss.

Mr. Mead put out the fire around the building in the dry grass and also assisted the firemen on their arrival.

The place had been rent for some time according to the signs on the property.

Opens Plumbing Shop In Tujunga Location

TUJUNGA, May 21.—A plumbing shop has been opened on East Michigan avenue by L. J. Mitchell, formerly of Los Angeles. Mr. Mitchell has had wide experience in the business and gave up a good position with a Los Angeles firm to enter what he believes is a more lucrative field.

Opera Closes Chautauqua

"Robin Hood," De Koven's masterpiece, will be the final number of the Ellison-White Chautauqua tonight. May Valentine will be the conductor, and the cast numbers thirty artists.

When Sam Grathwell came to Glendale as a Chautauqua artist to give Glendale folks the "dope" on "Getting By Your Hoodoo," he didn't know that a group of old friends would be on hand to accord him more than the ordinary welcome given a Chautauqua speaker.

But such proved the case for Charles H. Randall, ex-congressman; Henry F. Needham and Colonel Sobieski, who were associated with Mr. Grathwell in campaign work, came over to Glendale yesterday afternoon to hear all about "Getting By Your Hoodoo."

After the lecture the old friends held a jolly reunion in the Chautauqua tent and included many Glendale people in the informal reception for Mr. Grathwell.

This afternoon was "Children's Day" with a clever clown, entertainment by Hughie Fitzpatrick, late of Barnum & Bailey circus and the New York Hippodrome.

Tonight the 1924 Chautauqua will close with a big feature, the presentation of De Koven's comic opera, "Robin Hood," given by May Valentine's cast of thirty people.

The story of "Robin Hood" in cold print thrills young and old alike. But when enacted by sentiment, virile men and women in the romantic shades of Sherwood forest, we thrill with satisfaction and the story takes on a new light. The musical numbers of "Robin Hood" are probably more widely sung and more lovingly remembered than those of any opera ever written.

Miss Valentine presents a superb interpretation of the world's most popular comic opera.

PAIR WED FIFTY YEARS, CELEBRATE

Mr. and Mrs. Larson Married In Denmark; Relatives Gather for Event

SUNLAND, May 21.—Fifty years ago Inger Olsen and Ole Larson were married in Denmark. Saturday night they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home for the Aged in Sunland with other members of the home conducted by the Volunteers of America, and seven guests, including the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larson.

Mrs. Ekey, matron of the home, planned the affair in honor of the couple who have traveled life's road together to the half-century mark. A banquet was served in the main dining room. The tables were decorated with white roses and golden hued streamers from the electrolites. A gold-colored basket filled with spring flowers occupied the center of the table at which Mr. and Mrs. Larson sat.

Musical Numbers

The guests were ushered into the dining room to the strains of Lohengrin. Following the dinner Mrs. Elizabeth Godding read original verses written for the occasion by Mrs. Goldberg, a member of the home. Raymond Shockey sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," and the Angelus Hawaiian guitar club of Los Angeles entertained with a program of Hawaiian music. The celebration was concluded with devotional services.

Outside guests were: Mrs. Mary Sheets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larson, and her husband; Miss Louise Sheets and Albert Sheets, grandchildren, and Mrs. Fred Brelsford, all of Los Angeles.

RAILROAD'S WEALTH

NEW YORK, May 21.—Another railroad has moved into the billion dollar class. In its annual report the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe disclosed that in the last year its assets exceeded a billion dollars for the first time. In which respect it joins company with the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific.

FIRE LOSSES GROW

NEW YORK, May 21.—Although the volume of fire insurance business was the greatest in the history of the United States in 1923, underwriting was transacted at a loss, according to the annual report of the Spectator, official insurance journal. Loss payments in 1903 totaled $230,000,000; with $453,000,000 last year.

Rents have been raised three per cent in the last ninety days.

OWNER OF STUDIO LEASES BUILDING

Firm of Morticians to Occupy Home of Tujunga Art Association

TUJUNGA, May 21.—The gathering place of the Tujunga art colony, the Fine Arts Guild studio on Michigan avenue, has been leased by the owner, E. L. Sweet, for a period of three years to a firm of undertakers from Lankershim, Keith & White.

The studio will be converted into an office and chapel, and other necessary buildings will be erected in which to conduct all phases of the business, including embalming.

Mrs. Laura Lee Sweet, who sponsored the guild, could not be reached at her home. Friends in Tujunga believe that she is in Los Angeles, preparing for a trip abroad to complete her studies in art. Mrs. Sweet is very enthusiastic in her pursuit of fame in this field, specializing in oil painting. Several of her landscapes have been exhibited in Glendale, and received much praise.

Mrs. Sweet was instrumental in forming an alliance between the Tujunga colony and the Glendale Art association, and promoted several pleasant social affairs that were enjoyed by the members of both organizations. During the recent Moon Festival in Tujunga there was an elaborate exhibit of the work of local artists, in which many fine paintings and examples of handicraft were displayed at the Michigan avenue studio. May visitors inspected the exhibit and praised the work of the local artists. The leasing of the studio leaves the artists without a clubhouse.

FAIL TO LOCATE TREASURE HOARD

Diver Investigates Wreck on Sea Floor as Dredger Strikes Obstacle

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The wreck of the liner Rio de Janeiro has not been found, it was announced by officers of the government dredge Culebra, which returned yesterday afternoon after sending down a diver in an effort to determine the nature of the wreck which was encountered several miles off the entrance to the Golden Gate.

An old schooner, or possibly a coal barge, may be in the vicinity where the giant arms of the Culebra encountered obstructions on the floor of the ocean, indicating the possibility that the mysterious resting place of the Rio de Janeiro had been found.

May Hunt Treasure

The Culebra is to proceed to Mare Island, where its gear will be secured fastened in preparation for a voyage to Grays Harbor, Wash., where it will dredge the channel for about three months, unless a conference of government engineers in session today decides to continue the search for the wrecked treasure carrier.

The Rio de Janeiro was wrecked 23 years ago with a loss of 131 lives in a heavy fog while entering the Golden Gate from China. Nearly $2,000,000 in gold and valuables was also lost.

MOVÉ CONVICT CAMP

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—More than 200 convict road workers, now employed in Trinity county, soon will be transferred to work on the second unit of the Walker Pass road in the Kern River canyon. It was made public by Fred Gram, office engineer of the State Highway Commission. The prison camp will be maintained in Kern county for at least twelve months, Gram said.

CLAIM VETERANS

BELLEVUE, Ohio, May 21.—Monroeville claims it has the oldest active justice of the peace and also the oldest active barber in Ohio. The justice honors are claimed for Thomas Clarke, who is in his 86th year, while John Zorn, who is 75, believes he is the oldest in his trade in the State. Both are active.

KIWANIS CLUB TO AD BOY SCOUTS

Drive for Funds Supported by Club; Summer Camp Plans Outlined

EAGLE ROCK, May 21.—The Kiwanis club stands squarely back of the local Boy Scouts in their drive for funds.

Eagle Rock now has five troops of Scouts, sponsored by the churches and the American Legion. Other districts have already filled their quota, but the drive which opened last Thursday night is the first one for the Eagle Rock district this year.

For Summer Camps

The funds raised for the Boy Scouts are used chiefly to defray overhead expenses of the summer camps where the boys are trained, as well as given opportunities for a real vacation. There will be a camp this summer, according to Emil Swanson, Scout chairman for this district, at Catalina Island, from June 24 to July 2, and July 2 to July 10.

The lineup for the two Kiwanis teams is announced as follows: Dr. Marion M. Null's team: Dr. W. B. Allison, Roy Cowden, Arthur Roberts, H. M. LaFollette, Dr. R. J. Lippold, J. L. Pickett, J. C. Rorick, Sidney Smith, Page Noll, Andrew Wilson and Thomas Yutz.

Dr. Hensley's team: Dr. Harry B. Crawford, C. D. Goodale, J. M. Odell, C. W. Preston, Roy Seaman, W. C. Dredge, R. L. Woodhouse, C. W. Young and Z. Kaplan.

Advertise for Bids To Improve Schools

BURBANK, May 21.—The school board has advertised bids for additions to the Joaquin Miller and Abraham Lincoln schools, and for improvements to the Luther Burbank school and Thomas A. Edison cafeteria.

The enlargement at the Miller school will be five class rooms and at the Lincoln school, four class rooms, it is announced. Bids must be in to the school board secretary, Mrs. Edith Jones, before 6:30 o'clock of May 31st. Contractors may bid on one or all of the jobs, and plans and specifications may be had from Superintendent Collins at his office at the Edison school, on school days at 2 o'clock.

Midday Mail Dispatch Aids Postal Service

BURBANK, May 21.—A midday dispatch of mail has been added to the postal service of this city, announces Postmaster W. P. Coffman. Heretofore the outgoing mails have been only two, at 8 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, he states. The extra service is for the district of Los Angeles, and the Pacific Electric at 1:45 o'clock. To get into this mail should be in the office at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Coffman states that this will have the effect of pushing out all mail about twelve hours sooner. Hereafter missing the outgoing mail will not be so critical for business firms, he points out.

Tujunga Ice Factory Is Serving Patrons

TUJUNGA, May 21.—Householders of Tujunga for the first time have the opportunity of buying ice manufactured in a local plant. I. W. Weirick, vice president of the Tujunga Ice & Cold Storage company, has charge of the delivery trucks which are at present making three deliveries a week in Tujunga and devoting three days to outside deliveries.

The plant was just recently completed and all new machinery has been installed. Several days were spent in making thorough tests and the machinery was found satisfactory. Large storage space has been provided for a reserve supply to meet any extra demands.

Women's Club Fills Offices at Election

EAGLE ROCK, May 21.—Annual election of officers by the Business and Professional Women's club returned Mrs. E. D. Snow to the president's chair for another term.

Mrs. Laura Thompson was elected vice-president; Mrs. Rose Dockstater, second vice-president, and Dr. Mary LeClere third vice-president. Mrs. Marston was re-elected corresponding secretary and Miss Florence Glassey will fill the office of recording secretary.

Open Forum Meeting Will Discuss Bonds

EAGLE ROCK, May 21.—The Chamber of Commerce will hold an open forum meeting next Tuesday night, May 27, at the Eagle Rock school, starting at 8 o'clock, announces Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary. Addresses will be made on the school bonds, he states.

REQUEST PAVING ON ROSCOE ROAD

Valley Realtors In Favor Of Improvements Which Boost Community

SUNLAND, May 21.—In regular session here Monday noon at Rice's cafe, the Tujunga Valley Realty board heard reports from several committees and advanced plans already started for community improvements.

A representative of the Hansen Heights district reported that the district would not be able to hear its share of the burden in paving Roscoe road from Sunland to the San Fernando highway on account of other recent assessments which had depleted the funds of the district. It was decided to appoint representatives to be present at the coming dedication of the Pacoima bridge to take state and county officials, who will be present, over the Roscoe road in an endeavor to impress them with the urgent necessity of paving it.

Resistor Wider Highway

Resolutions were read from all Chambers of Commerce from Pasadena to San Fernando, including one from Glendale, endorsing the project of widening of the state highway from Pasadena through Montrose, La Crescenta, Tujunga and Sunland to San Fernando.

The proposed campaign to secure gas in the valley was discussed, but no definite information on the situation was offered. However, it was the opinion of some that gas would be available in Tujunga and Sunland before the first of next year.

Oil Companies Probe Prospects, Is Report

TUJUNGA, May 21.—Reports still persist of the guarded movements of oil companies in the Tujunga-Sunland district. One report states that a high official of a Los Angeles oil company was recently in Tujunga inspecting indications that had previously been located by Ganson Bates. The report is to the effect that this official was impressed and is willing to sink a test well if the necessary leases can be secured.

Much of the land has been subdivided and there seems to be considerable adverse sentiment regarding the rearing of derricks in the community, especially in the vicinity of homes and business buildings. The section has built up rapidly since the first agitation and does not offer the same open spaces that were formerly available.

Install Officers at Meeting In Sunland

SUNLAND, May 21.—Installation of officers was effected at the regular meeting of the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association Monday afternoon at the school auditorium. Arrangements were also made for representation at the annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations in session in Los Angeles next week.

Officers installed for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Dan G. Kevane; first vice-president, Mrs. Miller; second vice-president, Mrs. Chittwood; recording secretary, Mrs. Janetky; treasurer, Mrs. Knudson; corresponding secretary, Eakin; historian, Mrs. Satterlee; auditor, Mr. Creighton.

Finds Ready Market For Her Carnations

TUJUNGA, May 21.—Regular shipments of carnations are being made by Mrs. B. M. McDonald, who has for some time been cultivating these hardy blossoms on her property on North Palm avenue. Most of the flowers are shipped to Los Angeles in large lots. Mrs. McDonald recently sold the bulk of her property, but reserved five acres for the carnation gardens. The soil in the tract is particularly well adapted to these plants, being somewhat sandy loam. Many visitors stop at the place to view the well kept grounds.

P.-T. A. Delegation at Pasadena Convention

SUNLAND, May 21.—A delegation of Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association members, headed by Mrs. Dan G. Kevane, president, is attending the annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association at Pasadena, which will be in session Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Headquarters have been established at the Maryland hotel, Colorado street and Los Robles avenue. Several members have offered their automobiles to carry delegates and members who wish to attend and a creditable representation is expected to be made.

Community Sing Will Be Staged Thursday

MONTROSE, May 21.—Tomorrow night Miss Margaret Hauber will be the chief attraction at the Roscenta Community Sing to be held in the Montrose schoolhouse.

Mrs. Hopkins, president, and Director Prosper both desire a large attendance and as each sing seems larger than the last, it is felt people are beginning to appreciate what such an organization means to a community.

Offices with Distinction

OUR NEW BUILDING, in which the offices will soon be ready for occupants, is plainly visible from all parts of Glendale, and for several miles in almost every direction. If you have offices in this building, your patrons, customers, clients, patients will have no difficulty in finding you—the size and prominence of the building is an advertisement for YOU.

There is distinction, also, in doing business in the first and only metropolitan office building in the fastest growing city in the United States.

PASADENA, May 21.—Planning a program of rural work for the Parent-Teacher association this coming year, Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento is presiding over the state federation meeting in session here. Mrs. A. H. Reeve of Philadelphia, national president, is among those present. The first program was held in the High school auditorium last night. Mrs. Reeve and Judge Edwin F. Hahn being the principal speakers.

SMALL PEACH CROP

RIVERSIDE, May 21.—F. A. Lucas of Cucamonga, one of the largest deciduous fruit growers in this section, reports that the peach crop will be 10 per cent normal this year, due to a lack of foliage resulting from dry weather in February. A meeting was held yesterday in Chaffey Union High school and the problem of the peach growers thoroughly discussed.

BURNED AT CAMP FIRE

RIVERSIDE, May 21.—Funeral services are being held at San Jacinto today for Chelsea B. Griffin, former resident of this city, who was burned to death in his camp near Eden Hot Springs, Monday morning. Manager George Vandervere of the resort saw the man's lonely camp in flames and found his body burned to a crisp.

CLOSE BRIDGE ROUTE

VICTORVILLE, May 21.—The Victorville bridge route into the Big Bear valley will be closed for four days, beginning May 27, while the Santa Fe is making repairs. The river crossing near Hesperia is being put into shape to carry the motor traffic.

FREE STRAWBERRIES

EL CENTRO, May 21.—Strawberries! Nice ripe strawberries! Free, all you want, for the picking, come and get them. The luscious fruit is a drug on the market and many growers are giving the public an opportunity of helping themselves rather than let the crop rot in the gardens. New shipping methods will insure better prices next year, it is said.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE NEST TWIGS

In the yard of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow one day a red-breasted robin was hopping about picking up pieces of straw and twigs from the trees. The rabbit gentleman was sitting at a window, looking out and wondering what adventure he would have that day. Uncle Wiggily saw the robin picking up the twigs.

The bird would take hold of one end of a little stick, pull it loose from the tangling grass, and then would get the twig exactly in the middle, holding it in his beak, and away he would fly.

"I guess the robin bird is going to build a camp fire and fry some lollypop pancakes," Uncle Wiggily said to himself. "He has been carrying twigs away from my yard for the last two days. Next time he comes I'll ask him where his campfire is."

Soon the bird came flying back again, and looking about with his bright eyes, saw another twig. He picked it up, got hold of the middle of it and was about to fly away with it when Uncle Wiggily called:

"Where are you building a campfire, Mr. Robin? I would like to visit you and have some lollypop pancakes."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bird, dropping the twig to open his beak to talk. "I am not gathering twigs for a fire, Uncle Wiggily. What for, then?" asked the rabbit.

"I am helping my wife build a nest house," answered the robin. "Soon she is going to lay some eggs out of which come little birds. I pick up all the twigs I find and my wife and I weave them into a nest. We line the nest with soft grass, or loose hairs from the tail of a horse, so the little birds will have an easy bed."

"Do you find it hard to pick up nest twigs?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, it isn't easy," answered the robin. "Sometimes I must fly and hop about a long time before I get just the kind of twigs I want for the nest. And as for horsehairs—with so many automobiles nowadays, I don't know what the world is coming to. Soon there will be no horse hair and we birds can't find any hairs with which to line our nests."

"I suppose you'll have to use pieces of old automobile tires then," suggested Uncle Wiggily, laughing.

"Perhaps," answered the robin. "But as for tires, I have found quite a few good ones in your yard. I hope you won't mind me taking them for the nest."

"Take as many as you please!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "And what is more, I will help you. I will gnaw a lot of branches from the mulberry bush and put them in a pile. Then you can more easily gather the twigs."

"That will be very kind of you," sang the robin, and as he flew away with his twigs, Uncle Wiggily hopped out and began gnawing off some mulberry branches, to help in the making of the nest house.

When the robin flew back again he brought his wife with him. She did not have quite such bright red breast as had her husband, and she could not sing so sweetly, but she did not care, since she could lay eggs and hatch out little birds.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily," chirped Mrs. Robin, for getting these twigs down for us. It will be much easier and quicker, now, for us to build our nest."

So the father and mother robin flew back and forth from Uncle Wiggily's yard to a tall tree near they built their nest of twigs. One after another the robins would

Mrs. Robin. The twigs hit the Bob Cat on his ears and tickled him.

"Dear me! It must be raining twigs and tree twigs!" thought the Bob Cat as he jumped to one side. "There is going to be a bad storm and the wind is already blowing twigs on me. I had better go home and come back to get Uncle Wiggily when the storm is over."

So the Bob Cat ran away, thinking it was going to storm, but it didn't, and when Uncle Wiggily awakened and the robins told him about the Bob Cat and how they had dropped nest twigs on him, the rabbit thanked the birds very much. And later on the bunny helped feed the little robins, as I shall tell you pretty soon.

Now if the canary bird doesn't splutter his bath water all over the goldfish and make it get its feet wet, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the stickers.

"WAVE OF CHAUVINISM PASSING OVER GERMANY," SAYS WOMAN LEADER.

"Nobody in liberal Germany believes the Kaiser or any member of his family can come back to the throne, but the monarchy can be re-established. We admit that there is a wave of chauvinism passing over the country, especially in Bavaria, and that its objective is to give more power to the parties of the Right. But the thought of another monarchical regime would rouse the mass of the German people when it became a matter of action, and any such movement would be morally extinguished in a fairly short time."

So declared Lida Gsta Heymann, German vice-president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and delegate to the league's conference in Washington, in a recent interview.

Fraulein Heymann, coorganizer with Dr. Anita Augspurg, who is also in the United States, of the modern German suffrage movement, formerly member of the Bavarian Assembly and social settlement pioneer among women in Germany, declared that the movement for peace and reconciliation in Germany had held its own during the recent reaction and had been strengthened immensely by the good impression made in Germany by the Dawes report. She explained:

"The Friedensverein der Studenten (the students' peace societies) are active in every university and actively are combating the Hitler organization, the Nationaler Arbeiter, and similar chauvinist groups in Germany. It must be admitted for the moment that Herr Hitler has turned the heads of many German youth, and his Hakenkreuz, which he calls the Swastika, has acquired the false glamour of national symbolism."

"It is more like the Ku Klux Klan in the United States than a really national force, and Herr Hitler in Bavaria, where it is most powerful, is ill equipped to make it a lasting force in German life. It has made Munich, once the most pleasant of German cities, the most disagreeable city in the republic for a time, but it is an emotional, not a permanent movement. Herr Hitler, would-be Mussolini, really has lost ground lately, as his recent activities have shown that he has the pretensions, but not the qualities, of his Italian prototype."

What clothes, in what clothes is your Highland laddie clad? His bonnet of the Saxon green, His waistcoat of the plaid; And it's oh! in my heart that I love my Highland lad.

Suppose, oh suppose, that your Highland lad should die? The bagpipes shall play over him, I'll lay me down and cry; And it's oh! in my heart that I wish he may not die!

Spring, the sweet Spring, is the year's pleasant king; Then blooms each thing, then maids dance in a ring. Cold doth not sting, the pretty birds do sing— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-wita-woo!

The palm and May make country houses gay, Lambs frisk and play, the shepherd's pipe all day, And we hear aye birds tune this merry lay— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-wita-woo!

The fields breathe sweet, the daisies kiss our feet, Young lovers meet, old wives a-sunning sit; In every street these tunes our ears do greet— Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-wita-woo!

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By DANIEL O'CONNELL

For International News Service.

DUBLIN, May 21.—Dublin has gone dancing mad. Night after night the cafes and hotels are filled with joyous, happy throngs of dancers.

The terror which has held Irish pleasure seekers in check for many years has gone, and Young Dublin is making up for lost time by enjoying itself to its heart's content. No longer does the gunman and the minelayer disturb the enjoyment of the Dubliner.

The manager of one of the biggest hotels has announced that his hotel is booked solidly for the next six weeks for dancing. "Not even in pre-war days," he said, "was there anything like this. Young Irishmen, at least, are enjoying the new-found freedom of their country."

And as with dancing, so it is with every other sport. Football games are drawing bigger crowds than ever. Horse racing is especially enjoying the boom. Never in all Ireland's history, according to Senator Perkins, the well-known Irish trainer, has there been such a fine crop of thoroughbred two-year-olds. From England, where the quality of young race horses has not improved, buyers are flocking to Ireland and offering huge sums for the pick of the Irish stud farms.

This year promises to be the best in Ireland's history unless the trouble over the boundary between the Free State and Ulster reaches a disastrous stage.

The revival of Ireland's pleasure seeking instincts has turned the minds of the people from politics. Even in Cork, which used to live on political gossip, one very rarely hears politics discussed.

Miss Mary MacSwiney sees in this change the degeneracy of the Irish race. She blames the change on the Free State, which she has been making throughout the Free State she has repeatedly declared that all the people think about now is dancing and drinking.

As for the drinking part of her charges, dealers in liquor declare that Miss MacSwiney is not accurately informed. They assert that their business was never so slack at any time during the last ten years as it has been in the six months just past.

Sport knows no politics. Whatever else the Ulsterman may fight with his Southern brother about, when it comes to sport he is an Irishman, first, last and all the time. Recently, in Dublin, when Belfast University beat the National University in the final for the Irish football cup, a Dublin crowd gave the victors a great ovation. To repay the compliment many of the leading Unionists, has been formed to help the Nationalists of the South to make the Tailteann games a success.

Recently Colonel Ruttle, a representative of the British Olympic games committee, tried to convince the Ulstermen that Belfast athletes should compete with the British team at Paris.

"Nothing doing," the Ulster spokesmen told him. "We are Irishmen, and if Ireland is sending a team to Paris we are going with them."

And Ireland is sending a team and Ulstermen will be represented on it.

Mae Murray in "Mademoiselle Midnight" shows for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, a Tiffany production made by Robert Z. Leonard for Metro.

Monte Blue heads the supporting cast, which also includes Robert McKim, Robert Edson, John Sainpolis, Otis Harlan, Nigel de Bruiler, and Nick de Ruiz. Oliver T. Marsh was the photographer.

The story, written by Carl Hargrave and John Russell, concerns the daughter of a Mexican ranch owner who is afflicted with an odd midnight madness. With this as a premise, the film works up to many thrilling moments. Miss Murray has an opportunity to wear gowns of the Spanish style and she introduces some sensational dances.

MORENO, THE INVENTOR

Antonio Moreno has solved the lost-collar-button-under-the-dressing-table problem!

While making a recent picture for Paramount, he had to stand in front of a mirror and put on a collar and tie. Then a collar button slipped from the front of his shirt and rolled—well, somewhere in the vast recesses of dark under a dressing table. Instead of cussing and scrambling about on his knees, Moreno ordered a 1,000,000 candle-power sun-arc lamp wheeled up close. And in the ensuing flood of light the lost collar button revealed itself.

SPIRIT OF U. S. A.

Johnny Walker and four other celebrities combine to make "The Spirit of the U. S. A." adapted from "Swords and Plowshares," a big picture. It will soon be shown in New York. Emory Johnson made the film for P. B. O. Mary Carr, Gloria Grey and Rosemary Cooper are among those present.

MAE MARSH ABROAD

Mae Marsh was a fan favorite some years ago, then she went abroad. When she returned she appeared in "The White Rose" and "Daddies," and added new laurels to her name. She has again left us to appear in a German film for Stern films of Berlin.

THE GATEWAY

A special preview is announced by Manager Bernard Loper of the Gateway theatre as the special feature today, "something unusual," he says. The picture, "The Dawn of Tomorrow," will not be shown.

In addition to the preview, there will be special vaudeville, "the better sort," at the Gateway theatre today.

MAID HIRES MAID

A French maid wealthy enough to employ another maid to do her work would be somewhat of a novelty in real life—but not in reel life. Pauline Paquette, character actress, has to portray the role of a French maid in a recent Sam Wood picture. Every morning she brought her own personal French maid to the studio to help her make up. O tempora! O mores!

Two Sons of Mrs. Roberta Young Spend Several Months Here

Charles H. Young, who has been spending the past few months with his mother, Mrs. Roberta T. Young of 469 West Oak street, left yesterday for his home in New York.

Mrs. Young has also been entertaining during the last month her other son, Lieut. L. T. Young, and wife, Lieut. Young left yesterday for a ten days' cruise to the north. Upon his return he is to transfer to the U. S. S. New Mexico, and he and Mrs. Young will make their home in San Pedro.

SPORTS COSTUME

PARIS, May 21.—A fascinating sort of sports costume shown here today has a checked skirt, in some pale shade of rose, green, yellow or blue, combined with black. The jacket has some detail which echoes the checked skirt.

Diet and Health

ESSENTIALS IN REDUCING EXERCISES

Recently I attended a lecture by Dr. Fredrik Lindskog, an eminent Swedish specialist of London, at the New York Academy of Medicine. I had a conference with Dr. Lindskog after the lecture, and I was sure he could give me something of value for our reducing class.

You will remember when I gave you the articles on reducing, I told you that if you were very much overweight or if you had any trouble with your heart, you should be under the care of a physician. I have him prescribe diet and exercise; and that you were very much overweight, I would be wise for you to reduce some before you began to exercise. Dr. Lindskog also emphasizes the importance of considering the heart.

Now, I shall quote him directly: "The heart has to be considered first in any reduction exercises, for the following reasons: We have to consider that the heart of an obese person, at least in the beginning, is an overworked heart, with possible impairment, because the actual work done by the heart is much harder than the heart is built for. The quantity of blood that the heart has to pump through the blood vessels has been greatly increased. Aside from this overwork of having to pump an excess of blood through excess fat, there is some impediment from the excess of fat around the heart and around the individual muscle fibres of the heart."

"In most cases of excess weight, more than half of the excess weight is in the abdominal fat, and is less attached to the ribs. You will think of carrying a heavy weight weighing as much as one-half of the excess body weight, attached to the lower part of the front of the vest or waist, you can better realize the burden of the excess weight of the heart and how much it interferes with proper breathing and with the heart. With the heart, it interferes in two ways—directly, as have stated, or indirectly through the loss of the help of proper breathing should give it. The attachment of the abdominal fat to the lower ribs is in its mechanical effects very similar to an arrangement just described. "This excess weight in the abdominal fat and around the abdominal organs, aside from the interference with the respiration of the heart action, causes a strain of the pelvis, and through this tilting, as well as the hanging belly, we get a dragging down and displacement of the bowels and the stomach. These cause an impaired circulation in the organs, which interferes with their functions. This may be a cause of great pain and one of the commonest causes of fatigue in those who have to stand a long time.

"The best thing to relieve them of this fatigue is to let them rest, lying down, with hard pillows under the pelvis and chest, and with the hands clasped behind the head. This position causes the organs to take a better position. In this position, deep breathing exercises should be practiced for five or ten minutes a day. These can be practiced night and morning, before getting up and after going to bed, and on occasions of fatigue, or when going to be subject to fatigue. For instance, a fat hostess just before receiving her guests, can take them. They will make her feel fit and jolly. "Because these deep breathing exercises are of direct help to the heart, without putting any strain upon it, they are the ones to receive first consideration among exercises for reducing. These deep breathing exercises in this position constitute a very good preliminary training to the more strenuous exercises later on. "After some days of this lying-down-breathing exercise, the next thing is to give the sitting-up-breathing exercises. These are best taken sitting astride a chair, with arms folded on the back of the chair, and leaning slightly forward."

TOMORROW—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending me material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four stamps. I shall stamp and address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. Appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the S. S. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

I often add a very little sage to this recipe." Answer: Thank you for sending this splendid recipe.

Mrs. G. S.: "My baby carriage rolled from use on the outside; it is the best to re-paint it, is there some way of cleaning it? Also tell me how to take the coloring marks out of an old muslin apron." Answer: Yes, it would be best to re-paint the carriage. Buy Java water at any drugstore to give the butter-coloring; if it fails I do not know what else to take out the stain. Perhaps a Reader Friend has experienced with this stain and will give us some helpful suggestions.

C. M.: "Please tell me how to cover my floors." Answer: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my multi-colored article on The Treatment of Wood Floors, which I gladly send you.

E.: "In your recipes are measurements level or rounded? do you happen to know the recipe for Checker-Board Cake, which I would like to have?" Answer: All measurements are level unless otherwise stated. No, I am not familiar with the cake mentioned, but let us hope that a Column Friend is, and will challenge Butter.

I realize that trade names of polishes cannot be mentioned in the paper, as that is advertising, but I can say that I take a commercial paste polish and proceed as follows: Let fire go out. When the stove is just warm, I dip my cloth in turpentine and then in the polish; I then rub it on the stove and, when dry, polish with a brush. I think your reader will find this way most successful."

Answer: Thank you for your kindness in sending us this letter. Mrs. M. M.: "Do you think any of your readers could give me directions for making paper beads for portieres?" Answer: Let us hope so. was at the wheel." "From the crow's-nest could the lookout have seen Burns and Mrs. Johns going forward?" "No. The two houses were connected by an awning."

"What could the helmsman see?" "Nothing forward of the after-house. The prosecution closed its case with me. The defense, having conducted its case by cross-examination of the witnesses already called, contented itself with producing a few character witnesses, and "rested." Goldstein made an eloquent plea of "no case," and asked the judge to so instruct the jury.

This was refused, and the case went to the jury on the seventh day—a surprisingly short trial, considering the magnitude of the crimes. The jury disagreed. But, while they wrangled, McWhirter and I were already on the right track. At the very hour that the jurymen were being discharged and steps taken for a retrial, we had the murderer locked in my room in a cheap lodging-house off Chestnut street.

What do McWhirter and Leslie find out while the jury wrangles? Read the next story—"Free Again."

Dispute 'Greatest Golfer' Claim

Enthusied over Miss Joyce Wethered's victory over the wonderful Cecil Leitch the other day.

"After some days of this lying-down-breathing exercise, the next thing is to give the sitting-up-breathing exercises. These are best taken sitting astride a chair, with arms folded on the back of the chair, and leaning slightly forward."

Wethered is a superb golfer and popular, but three American maids arise courteously to dispute her title to world honors. They offer themselves as worthy opponents. They are Miss Edith Cummings, U. S. champion of 1923; Miss Glenna Collett, champion in 1922, and Miss Alexa Sterling, former national champion and winner of a score of championships in a brilliant career on the links. Miss Cummings has announced definitely that she will be unable to cross the Atlantic to play in the British tourney this coming summer.

This, unfortunately, eliminates all chance of her meeting Miss Wethered, unless the British girl comes to these shores. There is a good chance that at least one of the other two will match clubs and skill with the British girl. The British tourney will be staged the week of May 19, over the Royal Portrush club course in County Antrim, Ireland. Miss Audrey Furst, St. Louisan, and numbered among the U. S. stars, has already arranged to enter the tourney.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

OPPRESSIVE AUNT
Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am a girl 14 years of age. I live with my aunt who is a widow. My parents are dead and the money they left for my clothes she spends on herself. She runs with men and goes riding with them. She hinders me from having many friends. What shall I do to gain back the friends I have lost because of her?

She pays little attention to me and I have not had any new clothes since my parents died two years ago. I wear my clothes nicely and so I don't look so badly. She told me if I wanted nice clothes like other girls I could go to work up town. I am willing to work to earn my money some way. Is there something I could do to earn money? She lets me go with boys. She asked one of my friends one evening who was at my house why we didn't linger up and have some fun. After she left the "kids" asked to dance and I said they might, but I didn't dance. My aunt always scolds me for not dancing. The reason I don't is because my mother didn't believe in it. Is it all right for boys and girls to dance together at this age? All the others except me do. Am I doing right or wrong in not dancing? TROUBLED H. D. H.

If you are sure your aunt is not doing the right thing with the money left by your parents, report the matter to the Court of Probate or talk to a lawyer. It may be that there was only a little money left to reach until you are old enough to work. In that case your aunt would be justified in holding back until your clothes look badly and have to be replaced. Of course it costs her something for your board, and your aunt has to consider the future as well as the present and make the money reach. Try to appreciate the freedom your aunt gives you in having friends. In reality you are fortunate to be able to have company at home. Some girls who are left orphans at your age are miserably unhappy because they are not permitted to do anything at home because of the bother it causes. Be sweet and thoughtful yourself and trust that your friends will like you and come back regardless of the way your aunt acts. Perhaps you blame her for the loss of some of your friends when in reality they would have stopped coming to see you anyway. A girl cannot expect to keep all her friends indefinitely. Tell the principal at school that you would like to earn money and she may be able to suggest ways and even get work for you. Of course you could seek positions to take care of children when the mother wants to go away, or if you learn to sew, you could darn clothes and stockings. You would not make a great deal of money, but every little bit would help. Personally I think there is no harm in dancing if it is done in a nice way. Too much of the dancing nowadays is vulgar, however. It is very sweet of you to refrain out of respect for the opinion of your mother. Do not force yourself to dance simply because your aunt wishes it, but wait until you feel for yourself that it would be the right thing to do.

THANK YOU: Thank the boy for the good time you had. Yes, the girl should speak first. It would be all right for her to say, "Good morning," or whatever time of day it might be, or "How do you do." Since you are only sixteen you will have to respect the wishes of your parents and go with the boys they pick out for you. As long as you are not engaged you have a right to go with other boys. At your age it would be very foolish to tie yourself to one boy even if he does get jealous.

BRIG. GEN. THOMPSON.
Although Great Britain's new air minister, Lord Thomson is a soldier and a veteran of three wars he has resolved to devote the remainder of his life to the prevention of war.

"This not in spite of my being a soldier—rather because I am a soldier," he says. Lord Thomson is tall, with brown hair, beginning to grey. He is fifty years old, but looks much younger. He has been described as "a typical officer, very English in his effusive heartiness."

In 1912 the then Colonel Thomson (already the possessor of a distinguished record from the South African War) was sent to Belgrade as military attaché. That was the eye of the Balkan war. Then in 1915-16 he was military attaché at Bucharest. In his book

"Old Europe's Suicide" he gives an illuminating account of the intrigues spun at the Rumanian capital, aimed at dragging Rumania into the war.

With millions of brave men in the allied countries General Thomson fought in the world war believing that it was being fought for democracy and justice. He visualized an international settlement along the lines of the Wilsonian program. He went to Paris as British representative of the Supreme War Council and saw the hopes betrayed one after the other. He was also a British representative at Versailles. His condemnation of that "pyramid of errors," the settlement of Versailles, together with his impressions and reminiscences has been found in his book, "Old Europe's Suicide."

PETALS ON SKIRTS

NEW YORK, May 21.—Petals are seen on various new, lightweight frocks. The petals are usually of moderate size and are arranged in many rows of flouncing.

Of Life From the Book

TIME: GREATEST OF CRITICS

There are better introductions to Shakespeare than that of Samuel John (1765), notably those of Frank Harris and Bernard Shaw of our own time, but Johnson's preface is still well worth reading because of his explanation of why Time is the greatest of critics.

"That praises are without reason lavished on the dead, and that the honors due only to excellence are paid to antiquity, is a complaint likely to be always continued by those who, being able to add nothing to truth, hope for eminence from the heresies of paradox; or those, who, being forced by disappointment upon consolatory expedients, are willing to hope from posterity what the present age refuses, and flatter themselves that the regard which is yet denied by envy, will be at last bestowed by time. "Antiquity, like every other quality that attracts the notice of mankind, has undoubtedly varieties that reverence it, not from reason, but from prejudice. Some seem to admire indiscriminately whatever has long been preserved, without considering that time has sometimes co-operated with chance; all perhaps more willing to honor past than present excellence; and the mind contemplates genius through the shade of age, as the eyes survey the sun through artificial opacity. "The great contention of criticism is to find the faults of the moderns, and the beauties of the ancients. While an author is yet living we estimate his powers by his worst performance, and when he is dead we rate him by his best. "To works, however, of which the excellence is not absolute and definite, but gradual and comparative; to works not raised upon principles demonstrative and scientific, but appealing wholly to observation and experience, no other test can be applied than length of duration and continuance of esteem. "What mankind have long possessed they have often examined and compared; and if they persist to value the possession, it is because frequent comparisons have confirmed opinion in its favor. "As among the works of nature no man can properly call a river deep, or a mountain high, without the knowledge of many mountains, and many rivers; so in the production of genius, nothing can be styled excellent till it has been compared with other works of the same kind. Demonstration immediately displays its power, and has nothing to hope from the flux of years; but works tentative and experimental must be estimated by their proportion to the general and collective ability of the man, as it is discovered in a long succession of endeavors. "Of the first building that was raised, it might be with certainty determined that it was round or square; but whether it was spacious or lofty must have been referred to time. The Pythagorean scale of numbers was at once discovered to be perfect; but the poems of Homer we yet know do not transcend the common limits of human intelligence, but by remarking, that nation after nation, and century after century, has been able to do little more than transcribe his incidents, new-name his characters, and paraphrase his sentiments. "The reverence due to writings that have long subsisted arises

Beauty Chats

TREATING THE NECK

Every time the face is given a treatment, the neck should receive some attention also. It takes practically no extra time to cover the throat with cold cream while the face itself is being treated; it takes very little extra time to massage neck wrinkles at the same time face wrinkles are being treated. When the face is powdered, the neck should be powdered too.

Many women spend hours a week worrying new wrinkles into their faces while they assiduously rub away old ones, and never even look at their necks! But a black dress, rubbing against the neck, will work dye well into the pores; even white, if it rubs too hard, will make a sensitive skin brown. Cleansing cream is a necessary, possibly more necessary to the neck than to the face. One of the good things about the new printed and batik silk scarfs that everyone is now wearing, is that the silk, which holds dye well, will keep the coat and the woolen dress collars from working dust and dye into the skin.

An old neck needs a fairly vigorous and very methodical treatment. It must be massaged with a flesh building cream, and it must be treated afterwards with astringents. It is not difficult; one need not know complicated massage motions. Rub across the wrinkles and rub with a circular motion of the fingers. If the skin is dry or the neck badly wrinkled, leave the cream on at night and bind the neck loosely with old linen, so it can take up the beneficial oils during the night. Use cocoa butter if the wrinkles are very deep, and rub afterwards.

Don't have an elderly neck with a young face. Avoid tight or high collars, which make the neck old, and dark colors, which are unbecoming and which stain the skin.

Marie—If you simplify your diet for a few months you will find that you can easily lose the extra 30 pounds. At this season of the year it is an easy matter to eliminate heavy meats, rich gravies, pastries and even sweets. In their place have green vegetables, salads, and fruit. Substitute whole wheat bread for that from white flour, and be very sparing in eating any starchy food during the time of reducing the greater number of pounds.

Slim—Take a tablespoonful of olive oil with each of the three meals each day to gain in weight. If you prefer to include it in your food, such as in the salad dressing, you will derive the same benefit from it.

Tomorrow—Babies' Beauty Problems.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

PARASOL POPULAR

LONDON, May 21.—The parasol is to be an important adjunct of the summer costume. Why a parasol should be carried with a sports suit is a question. Nevertheless, the parasol to be carried with such a suit matches the scarf, which in turn matches the hat.

NOVEL COLLAR STYLE

LONDON, May 21.—Among the gowns seen at a smart tea in the Savoy recently was an ivory flat crepe with a "halter" collar. This collar, in black velvet studded with brilliants, went around the back of the neck, where it petered out into long ends that crossed in front and around the hips.

KNIFE PLAITING

PARIS, May 21.—There is a great deal of clever knife plaiting today on gowns of all sorts. This sometimes takes the form of narrow panels, emphasizing all-pleated bodice. When there is any waistline, it is usually low. therefore not from any credulous confidence in the superior wisdom of the past ages, or gloomy persuasion of the degeneracy of mankind, but it is the consequence of acknowledged and indubitable positions that what has been longest known has been most considered, and what is most considered is best understood."

DERBY WIN WAS VICTORY OVER RICH BY LOWLY

Owner of Kentucky's Idol Has One-Horse Stable; Black Gold's It

By ROBERT T. SMALL.

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 21.—Derby Day at Churchill Downs is the great leveller. Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, leader of the Teapot Dome, came from New York in a private car. Harry Payne Whitney came from New York in a private car, August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club in the East, came from New York in a private car. Yet all of these stars of the American turf had to take their hats off to an old fashioned little lady from Oklahoma, a Mrs. Hoots—who came from Oklahoma City in a lower berth and was glad she did not have to travel in an upper. If need be, however, she would have ridden in a day coach to get here to see her colt, Black Gold, with the golden home of the fiftieth running of the Kentucky derby.

In all the days of American racing there never has been such a popular victory. Owned in Oklahoma, but bred in Old Kentucky, Black Gold was the hero of heroes in the Derby, and as he galloped to victory in the stretch there was cheering such as no other horse in American history ever has heard. When he had flashed by the wire, ten thousand enthusiastic Kentuckians rushed out on the track. The writer has seen races everywhere else in the United States, at the Newmarket, Epsom Downs in England, at Longchamp in France, but never was there such a sight as this—the clamoring of the common people to pay tribute to the horse of the common people which had won the richest stake in American turfdom.

Derby Is Different. When they tell you that the Kentucky derby is different, there is the real love of horse-flesh here, you can believe it. Tens of thousands of persons rushed to the track at 8 o'clock in the morning. They immediately lined the rail and sat there for more than 8 hours until the derby was over. They did not get out. They couldn't. It is estimated by some observers there were 90,000 persons at the derby. Not a third of these could get anywhere near the betting machines. Yet their enthusiasm knew no bounds.

They cheered when the bugle blew for the Derby. They cheered when the horses first appeared on the track. They cheered as the 19 starters lined up at the barrier. They cheered when the cry went up "They're off," and Oh, boy, how they cheered when Black Gold, the hope of Kentucky and all the west, went jamming down the stretch in a rush which was not to be denied. There never has been such a victory. There never may be again.

Victory For Lowly. It was a victory of the lowly over the rich, of the humble over the mighty. Mrs. Hoots, the widow of an Indian oilman, who has a one-horse stable, Black Gold is the stable. He was named for the gushing black oil of the Indian lands—the gift of nature which has made the Indians of the one time Indian territory the richest people per capita in all the world. Black Gold triumphed over the fact that the East could send against him. Only the beat of western hoofs were behind him. For once the invaders were beaten back one, two, three, four.

The most interesting figure at this Derby was Mrs. Susan W. Shirley, 93 years old, the widow of Captain Derby Shirley, who once owned and mastered some of the finest boats on the Ohio, when river boating was a racing and a sporting game. Mrs. Shirley has seen all of the fifty derbies ran and won since those shadowy days of the southland in 1875, when Grant was in the White House and when the Rebel Yell was still a shooting offense.

Mrs. Shirley sat in the lounge room of the club house with a little kerchief of old lace drawn about her snow white hair and through a black silken speaking tube she heard all that was going on, the jockeys, the odds and all the rest. She was keen and alert. Two grand pieces were always at her side. The derby meant much to her. It was her tradition as well as that of the Kentucky Jockey Club, and yet to Mrs. Shirley there were other things besides the horses.

Amazed at Fashions. She was amazed at the fashions that she saw about her—the flowered chiffons, the painted organdies, the daring colors of red and yellow and blue. The Club House lawns made the colors of the jockey's seem dim and dismal in comparison. And Mrs. Shirley saw women walking with canes. She saw them smoking cigarettes right out in front of the multitude. She saw their figures outlined in the summer afternoon's breeze. And she shook her head. "It wasn't like this in the olden days," she said, "I suppose I am old fashioned. But I don't wear the crinoline, but when I first saw the Derby, the gentleman and ladies were wonderful to behold. Now it is difficult to tell the ladies from the gentlemen. Everywhere it seems to me the women are taking the lead. No wonder the poor men are feeling insignificant these days.

Mrs. Shirley would not have

Everything Set Now For Indiana Battle

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 21.—Assurances from Governor Emmet F. Branch that the Carpenter-Gibbons bout May 31 falls within Indiana's definitions of legal entertainment, and advance clamor from the fight-fervid, making the construction of 10,000 additional seats necessary, made all seem serene in the region of the fighters camps today.

The question of legality of the fight was settled by an interview between Governor Branch and Edward E. Spafford, commander of the New York department of the American Legion, who argued that the legion stood to lose large sums unless Gene Tunney had a crack at Georges Carpentier before Tom Gibbons did. This has been the plan of Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney.

Those concerned with the affair here were inclined today to view any future move of Gibson to substantiate his claim with the complacency of a cat eyeing the empty canary cage.

NEW TALENT FOR TRYOUTS CLASSY

Not All Honors Will Fall to Quinton Who Have Been in Olympics

While five athletes that have competed in Olympic games—Charlie Paddock, Charlie Dagg, Otto Anderson, Oliver Cory and Alma Richards—will naturally attract much interest in the Olympic tryouts to be held at the Coliseum next Saturday, there will be a flock of new talent on hand that is bound to make the stars extend themselves to the utmost in order to win a place on the team that goes from the southwest to compete in the finals at Boston in June.

Lee Barnes, sensational pole vaulter from Hollywood high school, will be one of the main attractions, according to the experts who have been watching the performances of local prep athletes. He has cleared the bar at close to 13 feet in practice, and expects to beat 12 feet, 10 inches in the tryouts. His team-mate, Vic Klein, star sprinter, will find the going rather tough if he competes in the century. Paddock, Lloyd, Buckman, Nash, Woodward of Manual Arts and several other ten second men are entered and a whirlwind finish is looked for in this event.

Poly Star Certain. Harold Coggeshall of Polytechnic has beaten everybody in the high jump, and looks like a sure bet to go to Boston. There is nobody in the southwest, unless he shows a reversal in form, that can come anywhere near his mark.

Charlie Dagg, star hurdler, who placed fifth in the 400 meter race four years ago, has been specializing in the 110 meter event, and will probably run at that race next Saturday. Leigh Dye of U. S. C. has been showing great form in the stick races, and Dagg's victory is by no means assured.

Regarding the ability of the athletes entered from Arizona and New Mexico little is known, other than their records. While King of Arizona is a fast man in the 100 yard dash, he is an outsider in the choice of those supposed to know who will place in this race next Saturday.

Dempsey to Box. Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, is to box three rounds with opponents in an exhibition. Charles Kepner, athletic director of the Los Angeles Athletic club, will be in charge of six fast amateur bouts and there will also be four wrestling matches. The best tumbler and gymnast in this part of the country will perform for thirty minutes.

Tickets are on sale in Glendale at Cornwell's 107 E. Broadway. Coach Normal Hayhurst at the Broadway high school and Al Dix in the editorial rooms of The Glendale Evening News also have a supply of general admission and reserved seat tickets, which sell for $1 and $2, plus tax. The events will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

WILL WATCH MATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Dr. Sumner Hardy, president of the California Lawn Tennis association, announced today he will leave May 30 to watch the Olympic tennis play in Paris. Dr. Hardy is a lifelong friend of Helen Wills, American champion, who may meet Suzanne Lenglen, world star, in a title match.

made a bet if her life depended upon it, and yet she waved her little speaking tube and smiled most graciously when Black Gold, the popular choice, came thundering down the stretch. The Derby is but 50 years old. Thoroughbred racing in Kentucky is more than a hundred years old. Golf is supposedly an ancient game. It dates back possibly five hundred years. Racing dates back at least to 500 years before Christ. King Solomon sent to Arabia for his best steeds. The Arabian strain still runs in American thoroughbreds today. The chariot races were the matching of steeds against steeds. The breeding of horses for racing is the oldest known sport. Kentucky still claims it is the best. And now that the common people have triumphed over the millionaires, racing state knows no bounds.

THE BOY WONDER

By Dick Dorgan

FRANK HUSSEY
THE 19 YEAR OLD SCHOOLBOY WHO EQUALLED THE WORLD'S RECORD OF 9-3-5 SECONDS FOR THE HUNDRED YARDS.

Frank Hussey, the Stuyvesant High school boy of New York city, credited in P. S. A. L. records with running the 100 yards in the world's record time of 9-3-5 seconds, is in for some job to make the Olympic games. Although conceded to be one of the greatest schoolboy sprinters ever developed, Hussey will have to be nothing less than a human streak to get a place on the team of this year. He has never engaged in A. A. U. competition; the tryouts at Cambridge will be his debut in big time sprinting. There he will be called upon to toe the mark against such worthy veterans as Murchison, Paddock, Bowman, Clark, McAllister and a half dozen other stars who are all trying for a place among the select few. Some little job for a 19-year-old.

Al Collins, coach, has been nursing Hussey along with the tenderness of a mother. He refused absolutely to let Frank race the speedy Murchison recently, for he realizes it is such foolhardy things as that that "burn up" brilliant prospects for the glorification of the coach alone.

Hussey is almost a perfect form runner. His stride is even and true and he is straight as an arrow in flight and has that leading finish of Charlie Paddock's that clips off those precious fiftths of a second.

Many of the coaches who have seen Hussey say that it won't be long before he will be giving the best of them a yard in a hundred—and beating them.

Way to Top In Meet

The Los Angeles Athletic club boxers, who are great favorites to win in the Olympic tryouts being held in Boston, were still battling for ring honor at midnight last night, when the second night of the matches saw sixty-five bouts scheduled.

In the feature bout of the early evening, in the 126 pound class, Jackie Fields of Los Angeles defeated Phil Woods of the Navy in three fast and brilliant rounds. Joe Salas, also of the Los Angeles club, won his bout in the same class from Joe Novak, Pittsburgh.

Other results affecting this part of the country were: 112-pound class — Second trials: Fidel Labarba, Los Angeles, defeated Phil Goldstein, Cleveland.

Ray Fee, San Francisco, knocked out Willie Russell, Boston.

In the 150-pound class John Renie of Cleveland, national champion, beat Barksdahl Hufnagel of New York, metropolitan champion, in three rounds.

In the 135-pound class, second trials, Julius Jesick, Los Angeles, knocked out Arthur McDonald, Newton.

GILMORE OILERS

BACK IN LEAGUE

Jumped Early In Season But Begged to Come Back; Will Play Sox

The appearance of the fast Gilmore Oil company ball team against the White Sox here Sunday marks the first break in the ranks of the recently organized independent league, according to Frank Kerwin, secretary of the Managers' association and boss of the White Sox.

When Larry Arnold of Sawtelle and Feinstner of Shell Oil broke their affiliation with the association ranks, they took with them several teams, among them being the Gilmore Oil outfit. After several weeks of independent ball, they have asked permission to re-enter the organized ranks, and Frank Kerwin signed them as the sixth team in the summer league, and scheduled them for Glendale next Sunday.

With El Segundo, the Pasadena Merchants, Colored All-Stars, Gilmore Oil and the White Sox this league has the class of semi-pro teams on its roster, and although Glendale is well away in the lead with four victories and no defeats, the going for the rest of the season will be anything but rosy.

Travel Soon

It has become an obsession with teams in this part of the country to beat the Sox, and every effort is being directed toward that end. El Segundo would have given their share of the gate receipts to take away a win last Sunday in order to keep their record clean. With most of the home games out of the way, the Sox will have to go on the road soon, playing return games at Pasadena, El Segundo and Hollywood. Just how good they will be away from home remains to be seen. The game at El Segundo will draw a record crowd in that neck of the woods.

Gilmore Oil will line up against Glendale next Sunday as follows: Coleman, cf.; Beumiller, 3b.; Davis, lf.; Carley, rf.; Walsh, ss.; Hammer, c.; Chellard, 1b.; McKnight, 2b.; Tally, Hanna and Raleigh, pitchers.

May Match 'Wild Wop' Against Jack Dempsey

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Rocco Stragmalia, "the wild wop," who cut a gash in Dempsey's eye at a Montana training camp, may have his chance at the big prize for the hundred yards to 9-10 and was clocked in one of his heats in 9-4-5, which is interesting to the Olympic committee and also to Messrs. Murchison, Paddock, Bowman and others who will run against him in the Olympic trials.

SPORT WISDOM

By WALTER CAMP
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Princeton's track victory over Harvard by a score of 9-2-3 to 4-5-1-3 provided some solace to the Tigers for the painful defeat administered the preceding week-end by Yale's track team.

And solace was needed, in view of the fact that the great Yale rowing crew added Princeton to its list of victims on Lake Carnegie, while Harvard murdered the Tiger baseball line at Cambridge by a score of 7-0, knocking Caldwell the Princeton pitching star, out of the box.

Although Mercersburg won the Penn interscholastic meet at Philadelphia, Frank Hussey lowered the mark for the hundred yards to 9-10 and was clocked in one of his heats in 9-4-5, which is interesting to the Olympic committee and also to Messrs. Murchison, Paddock, Bowman and others who will run against him in the Olympic trials.

SPORT COMMENT

By AL DIX.

Sid Chambers of 736 South Glendale avenue, who has appeared at Ascot with more or less success since that track was opened, is out with the announcement that most of the drivers competing at George Bente's speed plant have banded into the California Dirt Track Drivers' Association, and with the backing of two eastern men, have sanctioned two days' race meet to be held at the Culver City track September 7 and 8.

Although he states that the association is not out in open opposition to Bente and Ascot, as they have arranged their opening dates to conflict with the Ascot monthly meeting scheduled for September 8, there is apparently friction somewhere.

Chambers is authority for the statement that there has been much dissatisfaction among the drivers at Ascot who have not been able to get in the money. He claims that the weekly guarantee given them was ridiculous and that several star drivers ran away with all the prize money. He claims that Freddie Frame, Hooker and Babe Stapp are members of the new organization, the officers of which are as follows: Harry Hooker, president; George Sherman, secretary; Sam Durand, referee.

Chambers believes that the two tracks—Ascot and Culver City will eventually work in unison, staging alternate races on Sunday. If what he states is a fact, Bente will be hard hit, for it leaves him but a few drivers. Among them are the stars of his track however, for Chambers states that De Palma, Eddie and Leon Duray have not joined the new organization.

ANGELS 2, SOLONS 3

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—The Angels have undisputed possession of the cellar position in the Coast league now as the result of their defeat yesterday by Sacramento, 3 to 2.

The Angels put up a fierce scrap, the game being a brilliant pitching duel between George Payne and Bill Prough. Both pitchers gave up a run, but Payne weakened as the game progressed and Prough got better. The Senators scored the winning run in the ninth, after tying the score in the seventh.

NEW STREET SYSTEM

CHICAGO, May 21.—A system of "through streets" from which horse-drawn and other slow-moving vehicles will be excluded may be Chicago's solution of the traffic problem. Plans for putting the system into effect will be considered by the City Council within ninety days.

Traffic experts, who studied traffic-control systems in a number of cities before making their recommendations, claim the "through street" plan will speed up traffic and prevent accidents. The plan provides for the designation of a number of streets east and west and north and south for the exclusive use of rapidly moving vehicles—automobiles and express street cars.

REWARD OF LOYALTY

NEW YORK, May 21.—For his loyalty, Peter Weiss, a chauffeur, and his wife were left real estate worth more than $10,000 and a limousine in the will of Mrs. Mary E. Bond Foote of Larchmont, which was filed for probate in White Plains. Weiss was in the employ of Mrs. Foote fifteen years.

Her estate was valued at more than $150,000. She left her jewelry to Elsie Winchester Coolidge and Mary Rosamond Coolidge, nieces, of Watertown, Mass. They are said to distant relatives of President Coolidge. They also share with her nephew, Joshua Warren Coolidge, the residue of the estate after several bequests.

Samuel M. Knox, survivor of the Lusitania disaster, died recently.

shows in Los Angeles in one month and that in one year three-quarters of a billion dollars are spent in Los Angeles for picture shows alone.

Encourage Drama
She stressed the fact that club women are sponsoring the little theatres and encouraging the spoken drama in the dramatic departments in the clubs.

Later she reviewed briefly the three plays which won the Pulitzer prize during the last three years.

In closing she extended an invitation to all to attend the convention of the national drama league next week in Pasadena.

Antonia Horack, psychologist, was another luncheon speaker. She declared herself a living exponent of what right thinking will do to keep one young and renew health.

There were annual reports given by two chairmen at the luncheon. Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman, in reporting as a chairman of the juvenile protection committee, stated that of the 900 families represented by the club membership there had been no calls on her committee. During the year she had directed the care of four cases and had had charge of the recent flower sale, at which $130 was realized.

Indian Welfare
In reporting for the Indian Welfare, Mrs. B. O. Holbrook told of bringing Miss Ida Adams to the club as a speaker, and of sending forty communications in the cause of the American Indian.

Mrs. Louise R. Waite was seated at the honor table and was presented by Mrs. Campbell as the speaker for June 17. At that time she will speak on "Women's Place in the Establishment of World Peace."

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. Campbell spoke in anticipation of the coming Biennial of the General Federation in Los Angeles, urging all club women attending to present Tuesday Afternoon club membership cards in order to secure seats in the auditorium.

Mrs. A. A. Barton presented the proposed revision of the by-laws. In addition to the change to bi-monthly meetings, she proposed that the annual meeting be held the fourth Tuesday in May instead of in April; that the number of votes required to place a name on the ballot be increased from ten to twenty-five; and that the auditor's report be given at the final meeting in June.

There were annual reports given by three chairmen in the afternoon.

Mrs. Hugh Blue, as chairman of international relations, stated that she had attended the institute on this subject in November in Los Angeles.

Report on Films
Reporting on motion pictures Mrs. E. S. McKee spoke of her committee's co-operating with the Los Angeles district in the movement for better films.

In reporting as chairman of history and landmarks, Mrs. George H. Rowe, also stressed the fact that it had been her endeavor to take an active interest in the same department of the district federation.

It was announced that on next Tuesday Mrs. Annie F. Obendorfer, chairman of music for the General Federation, will be honored guest and speaker at the club meeting, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The entertainment feature yesterday was a program by W. Ernest Feutz, tenor. He was accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer. Mr. Feutz is a singer of wide experience and in his five song groups yesterday he displayed talent that was highly appreciated by the club women.

Boy Scout Troop No. 3, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, asked that the organization meet the expense, amounting to $8.44, of merit badges to be given the boys for their summer work. The expense was allowed by the board.

The directors also endorsed the plan of the Y. M. C. A. to erect a building in Glendale to cost $275,000.

President W. E. Hewitt advised the board that, as president, he had signed a number of telegrams to influential persons in Washington, D. C., urging support of the bill to increase the salaries of postal employees, and he showed an answer from Senator Samuel Shortridge, stating that the latter was working for the bill.

A resolution was authorized urging the county board of supervisors to hasten the start of flood control work in the Pacoima and Tujunga canyons, as authorized by the passage of the $35,300,000 bond issue in the recent election.

REVERSE DECISION

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Upholding the principle that "the master is not responsible for the negligence of his servant while the servant is pursuing his own ends," the Third District Court of Appeal reversed a decision of the Superior Court of Sacramento county allowing damages to King H. Lee in his suit against Charles P. Nathan, millionaire department store owner, for injuries received while riding in an auto driven by Nathan's chauffeur.

years and the formation of the society as it exists today.

Outlines Foreign Work
The unification of the missionary organization and the work in foreign fields was outlined fully by Mr. Muckley. He also told of the work carried on in the cities and in the suburban districts throughout the United States.

The convention opened at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a woman's Missionary Society hour. Devotions were led by Mrs. R. C. Logan, of Glendale. Talks on subjects relating to the missionary work were given by Mrs. A. J. Wingard of Pasadena, Mrs. Huber of Burbank, and Mrs. W. C. Hall of Van Nuys.

From 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock, Rev. C. A. Cole, of Glendale had charge of the Bible School hour. The next hour was devoted to speeches and discussions of business. It was reported at this time that two new churches had been formed in the Pasadena district, one at Angelus Park and the other at Lankershim. The district are, Alhambra, Van Nuys, Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Pasadena Central, Pasadena

SAM DAVIS HOST TO HIS BROTHER

Newcomer Admires Glendale
On His First Visit to Southland

Councilman Sam Davis of 333 North Louise street is entertaining his brother, S. C. Davis of Topeka, Kan., one of the vanguard of summer tourists to the southland.

Five years ago S. C. Davis visited San Francisco, but this is his first trip to southern California, though his wife and daughter were visitors with the councilman three years ago in Glendale.

"You have a wonderful climate," was the newcomer's first comment, as he stepped off the train. His second comment was: "You have a wonderful city," as he drove around Glendale for the first time with his brother.

Councilman Sam Davis smiled, when asked how long his brother would remain. "Only a week or so this time," he said. "But, you know—they always come back."

S. C. Davis is connected with the Topeka health department.

Washington and South Pasadena. At the Christian Endeavor dinner prepared by the women of the Central Christian church, about 100 young people were served. Large delegations were present from Alhambra and Pasadena. The program of the Christian Endeavor hour included yells, society songs and talks by delegates from the various churches.

Buy "Check" Seal Radio Sets

LET the "Check" Seal bring the universal voice of radio into your home. It's another one of the benefits that come so easily in these days of electricity. Soft lights, clean electric heat, sturdy electric power plus entertainment and education without effort from an R. C. A. Radiola set—that's what electricity means in "Check" Seal homes.

"Check" Seal Radiolas are light in weight, compact in design and efficient in operation. They are made according to the same scientific principles as the Radio Corporation commercial equipment used for Marine and Trans-oceanic communication.

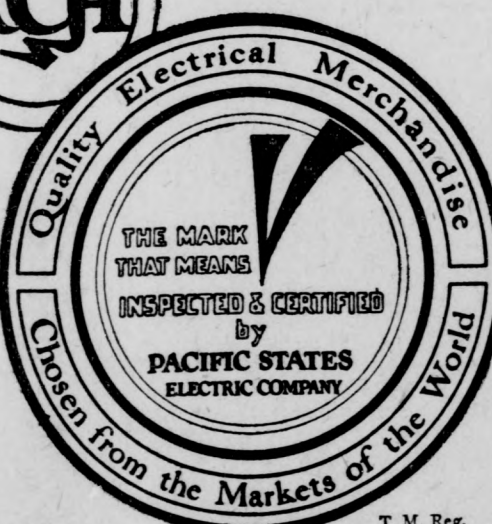

There is a Radiola for every purse and every purpose—portable sets for vacation trips—mahogany sets for the living room. The orange and blue "Check" Seal certifies their merit and honest value.

The "Check" Seal is the trade mark of the Pacific States Electric Company—the largest distributor of electrical merchandise on the Pacific Coast. This Company does not sell direct to you but its merchandise can be bought through reliable electrical contractors and retailers. Every electrical product marked by the "Check" Seal has been inspected and certified by this company. Every electrical contractor and retailer who displays the "Check" Seal is committed to the "Check" Seal policy of standard materials, good workmanship and fair prices.
